NOTABLES SPOKE ON COLUMBUS DAY

Library of Congress

Vice-President Sherman and Canadian Secretary of State in Chicago.

A DISCOVERY DAY BANQUET

Judge Grosscup Made Feature Address. Sherman and Murphy Avoided Political and Economic Subjects.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—At the discovery day banquet of the Knights of Columbus tonight addresses were made by Charles Murphy, M. P., Secretary of State of Canada; Vice President Sherman and Judge Peter S. Grosscup, of the United States Circuit Court. Political and economic subjects were avoided by Mr. Murphy and the Vice President.

Senator Lorimer, while not on the programme for an address, was a guest at the speakers' table. It was in the same room that the Hamilton Club banquet, where Col. Roosevelt refused to speak if Senator Lorimer was a guest, was held a month ago.

Judge Grosscup said: "To establish an enlarged democracy for the future—a democracy that will harmonize freedom in production with a just distribution of the fruits of production—something more than mere homilies on honesty is needed, something more than mere criminal prosecution, something more than stirring the depth of unrest—nothing less indeed, than a President and Congress who have courage enough to recognize that monopoly is here to stay, and that the way to deal with it is to make it deal fairly with the people by putting a limit on its profits. Nothing less than a President and Congress, who will take up the tariff, as judicial tribunals take up cases that demand a careful and disinterested inquiry into the facts, nothing less than a President and Congress whose purpose will be to so re-construct the corporation (those that are monopolies as well as those that are not), that the corporate medium of holding property will become as representative of the people as the land laws have become. And to accomplish this, we must take our leaders, not from among those who, in the language of a friend of mine, sit on the tail-board of the wagon and do nothing but holler whoa! Nor from among those who sit with the driver urging him to whip the horses into a runaway. The American people, I believe, are in no mood to came to a standstill; nor do they wish a smash-up. There need be neither. There needs to be a leadership, however, into which is put the superb faith of Columbus that a head is the shore sought, and the superb faith of Lincoln, that, with the saving of common sense of the American people behind it, no just cause needs to be lost."

Roosevelt Spoke at Peoria.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 12.—Former President Roosevelt came up from the South into Illinois today, denouncd corrupt legislators, and commended work which the Catholic church is doing. Leaving St. Louis early today he traveled across the southern end of Illinois speaking at several places on the way. In Peoria he was the guest of the Knights of Columbus, to whom he made a speech at a dinner tonight.

It was Col. Roosevelt's first public utterance to Roman Catholics since the Vatican incident last Spring. He said that he favored the broadest measure of religious toleration.

In a brief speech to a crowd at the railroad station at Springfield, Ill., Col. Roosevelt made what was construed as reference to the allegations of corruption in the Illinois Legislature. Hardly had he begun to speak, when a man in the crowd called: "Give it to the Jack Potters, Colonel."

The others in the crowd, to whom the word had become familiar since certain members of the Illinois Legislature asserted that they had fared in a corruption fund which was called the "Jack Pot," applauded.

Col. Roosevelt took it up, and vigorously attacked the men involved in the legislative scandal.

"Good, my friends. I am glad to hear you say that," he said. "No man who is worth his salt will have anything to do with anyone of the creatures tainted in that scandal. The most important thing before us as a people is to drive from public life the corruptionist, the bribe-taker, the bribe-giver. The men whom you speak of as Jack Potters are traitors to the American people, traitors of the basest kind, and it is infamous in anyone to condone their iniquity or to support them and stand behind them, directly or indirectly. The presence in public life of such men is a shame and a scandal and I do not care a rap whether they belong to my party or to some other party. I hold it my bounded duty to be equally hostile to them in either event."

Col. Roosevelt went to the Country Club for luncheon and then visited the home of Archbishop Spaulding. A public reception followed.

At the dinner tonight Bourke Cackran, of New York; Richard Henry Little, of Chicago, and Dr. Emmett Kane, of St. Louis, made speeches before Col. Roosevelt delivered his address. Governor Deneen also was present at the dinner. In his address Col. Roosevelt, after referring to the good work being done by Mother Mary Paul, an American nun, at one of the Catholic missions in Africa, and asking that the Catholics of the United States take an active interest in this particular mission, he said:

"There is no other country in the world where Catholic and Protestant gets on as we do here, each treating the other on the basis of our common citizenship and judging him not as to how he worships his Creator, but on his conduct toward his fellow men on his own worth as a man. We must never permit anything to make us deviate from this standpoint."

Col. Roosevelt went to his car after the dinner. He is to spend tomorrow in making campaign speeches in Indiana for Senator Beveridge, who seeks re-election.

Columbus Day at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 12.—The Italian colonies of Norfolk, and Portmouth held a joint celebration of Columbus Day in this city, the principal features of which were a spectacular parade this afternoon and a big ball followed tonight by a banquet attended by leading municipal officials.

DIX'S FIGHT FOR DEMOCRATS

Nominee For Governor Stands by the Platform in New York State.—His Formal Acceptance.—Flays Teddy in a Speech.

Thomson, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Planting himself squarely upon the platform adopted by the Rochester State Convention, and pledging his support to the principles enunciated therein, John A. Dix today formally accepted the nomination as the candidate of the Democratic party for the office of governor of the State of New York.

Herbert P. Bissell, of Buffalo, the convention's presiding officer, officially notified Mr. Dix and the other candidates on the State ticket of their nomination.

National questions of grave importance aside from questions of good government within the State, Mr. Bissell said, are involved in this election.

"They relate to public extravagance in National affairs," he said.

"There is also involved the curbing of the inordinate and reckless ambition of a former President of the United States, whose record, doctrines and methods present a menace to the constitutional government, and business prosperity."

In his speech Mr. Dix referred to official corruption running riot at Albany and declared that if he became governor of New York, he would turn on the search-light and drive the Black Horse Cavalry out of business.

Mr. Dix said he favored home rule for cities and sub-divisions of the State; a downward revision of the tariff; a State-wide system of direct primaries; State-wide uniform personal registration; popular election of United States Senators, and ratification of the income tax amendment to the Federal constitution.

"But above all," said the candidate with emphasis, "I resolutely and aggressively take a position against attacks and assaults upon the courts of the country."

Mr. Dix declared that Americans in authority, who attack the courts, should be branded as a public enemy.

Overshadowing all these questions and of most vital choice to the people is the menace offered to the various institutions of the country by the new nationalism fathered and advocated by a new apostle of discord and dissension.

"We have already to our cost ample proof of his ability to disturb business, destroy values and create a condition of panic country-wide in its evil effects," said the candidate.

Beside Mr. Dix, the other nominees were present at today's notification ceremonies.

Although the name of Theodore Roosevelt was not mentioned, there was no mistaking the bitter shafts of criticism hurled at him today by John A. Dix, Democratic candidate for governor, who, with the other nominees on the State ticket, was officially notified of his nomination at "Pine Needles," his country home. Mr. Dix declared that any American who, occupying a position of authority or having the public ear, assails and attacks our courts, is to be regarded as a public enemy and should be so branded by every reasonable man.

New Nationalism, "fathered and advocated by a new apostle of discord and dissension," was characterized by the candidate as a menace to the various institutions of the country.

Herbert P. Bissell, chairman of the notification committee, spoke of "the inordinate and reckless ambition of a former president whose record, doctrines and methods present a menace to constitutional government and business prosperity," while Thomas Carmody, of Penn Yan, candidate for attorney general, said that the people who want a constitution without a boss and not a boss without a constitution, would vote for the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Dix's speech was frequently interrupted by cheering. One of the first outbursts came when the candidate declared his intention, if elected, to "drive the Black Horse Cavalry" out of business and the crowd applauded vigorously when he scored new nationalism.

Washington, Oct. 12.—United States Senator Thomas S. Martin and Representative C. C. Carlin, of Virginia, today called at the office of Health Officer Woodward to ask a postponement of the tuberculin test requirement until the Virginia Legislature meets and can make some provision for reimbursing farmers for condemned cattle.

STRIKE IN FRANCE LIKELY TO SPREAD

Premier Declares Adjustment of Grievances in Progress When Called.

SUPPLIES BY THE RIVER

Northern and Western Roads Are Prostrated.—Much Destruction Is Wrought.—Food Becoming Scarce.—Loss to Commerce.

Paris, October 12.—The strike of the railroad men, which threatens to spread throughout the length and breadth of France, was denounced today by Premier Bryand, as an "insurrection purely, built upon criminal foundations."

The premier declared that the strike was called while negotiations were going on through himself and the Minister of Public Works for an adjustment of grievances, and he promised that the instigators of the strike would be criminally prosecuted.

The river Seine, which in January threatened to destroy Paris, now looms up in the role of savior. The government has made arrangements to rush food supplies to Paris from the sea, requisitioning all tugs, boats and barges to meet the crisis brought about by the stoppage of the railway service and ease the food market, which is already hard hit.

The employes of the Eastern and the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railroads have not yet to any appreciable extent responded to the leaders' call to strike, and the government's weapon of mobilization has induced some of those employed on the northern road to return to their posts.

Nevertheless the northern and western railroads are prostrated. The call to the colors has been ignored by the large majority and at mass meetings held today, the strikers re-erated their determination not to respond to the call.

Much destruction has been wrought on the western system, where the strikers and their supporters have held up and derailed trains, blocked tracks, destroyed signals, ripped up rails and cut telephone and telegraph wires. The government has ordered the arrest of a score of the strike leaders.

Thousands of persons living in the suburbs, but who are employed in Paris, massed this evening around the depots. These they found closed and silent, with soldiers' camps in front. Then with true Parisian gayety, they laughingly set out to walk home, perhaps a distance of five or ten miles, or stormed the tramways, cabs, automobiles and other conveyances.

The losses to commerce already are tremendous. Scores of trains have been stalled along the roads, many of these carrying food supplies which even now have become unfit for use.

Many Americans have been compelled to remain in this city, or to pay fabulous sums to reach the coast, so that they might embark for England. Seven hundred sacks of American mail are now being transported from Havre to Paris up the Seine.

Mr. Jaures, leader of the socialists in the chamber of deputies, today answered Premier Bryand, charging that the representatives of the government were responsible for the crisis.

ACCUSED OF BEING SPY.

"Sherlock Holmes" of Russian Revolution Makes the Charge.

New York, October 12.—Charges made by Vladimir Bouretzff, the "Sherlock Holmes," of the Russian revolution, that Alexander N. Evalenko, a publisher, of this city, was a spy for the Russian government were upheld in a report made today by a committee of six representing various revolutionary bodies, which investigated the accusation. This committee was appointed at Evalenko's personal request after Bourtezff filed his charges last September. The report charges that Evalenko, while a member of several revolutionary societies, delivered to the Russian police evidence concerning political immigrants.

DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY

First Business Session Yesterday—Thomas Dixon Makes Address. Visiters Being Given Most Cordial Entertainment.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Oct. 12.—At 10:30 o'clock today the 14th annual State convention of the U. D. C., was opened with prayer by the chaplain of the State division, Miss Hettie James, of Wilmington. This was followed by the song "The Old North State" by the choir.

Mayor Thorne's address of welcome was most pleasing and appropriate. The keys of the city were delivered to the ladies for as long as they could be induced to remain. The fraternal orders of Elks and Pythians were represented by Mr. Jos. B. Ramsey, whose address was followed by the singing of the stirring old song that cheered the Southern soldiers to battle in the sixties, "The Bonnie Blue Flag." On behalf of the Tobacco Board of Trade and the business men of the city, Capt. J. O. W. Gravely was introduced and in a very happy effort he informed the ladies that everything belonged to them.

At the conclusion of Capt. Gravely's address, Mrs. Winstead in a sweet and splendid talk welcomed the Daughters to the homes and firesides and hearts of the people of Rocky Mount. The president of the North Carolina division, Mrs. F. M. Williams, of Newton, responded for the Daughters, expressing their pleasure and gratification at such a cordial reception.

After the preliminaries Mr. Thomas Dixon, Jr., the celebrated orator playwright, and man of letters, was on the platform and had consented to address the Daughters. Mrs. Winstead introduced Hon. F. S. Spruill, of this city, who in turn introduced Mr. Dixon. Mr. Spruill in his introductory remarks called attention to the great bitterness culminating in the Civil War, that was engendered by the book "Uncle Tom's Cabin," written 60 years ago by Mrs. Stowe, a book said Mr. Spruill, "cruel in its purpose, malignant in its influences and heartless in its results. For years and years," said the speaker, "the South looked for the coming of a prophet who should answer the slander and defamations of Mrs. Stowe. Mr. Dixon in his books, 'The Leopard Spots,' 'The Clansman,' and 'The Traitor,' has effectively and fully answered 'Uncle Tom's Cabin'," said Mr. Spruill.

Mr. Dixon's speech was the feature of the session. Expressing real pleasure in the opportunity to address the Daughters in Rocky Mount, Mr. Dixon spoke of himself as peculiarly a child of the Confederacy." All his folks fought for the South. He was born in the midst of the war in 1864 and was reared in the most trying period of the South's history. He read three pages from his first book "The Leopard's Spots," setting out that the last tragic scene at Appomattox when seeing Gen. Cox's brigade marching to the charge with "all the fire and spirit of the first days of the Confederacy," Gen. Lee raised his head and asked what troops these were. On being answered that they were "Cox's North Carolina Brigade" Gen. Lee exclaimed, "God Bless Old North Carolina."

Mr. Dixon is dramatic and heart thrilling and unquestionably as stated by Mr. Spruill, is one of the first orators in America. He was given a tremendous ovation at the close of his address.

Messrs. R. H. Ricks and J. H. Thorpe, surviving members of the immortal Bethel heroes and comrades of Wyatt when he fell, were brought to the platform the Daughters rising and standing in their honor. The old heroes were cheered to the echo.

Mr. Spruill then presented to the State president, Mrs. Williams, a gavel made from a dogwood that grew on the Bethel battlefield near where Private Wyatt, of Edgecombe, was killed, the first man to fall in the War Between the States. This gavel was carved from the dogwood by Mr. Jno. D. Christian, of this city, an old soldier and an unreconstructed rebel. The gavel was accepted by Madame President in a graceful speech of thanks and at the special request of the Daughters, Mr. Christian was brought to the platform, the Daughters rising and cheering.

Gen. W. R. Cox, the man who led the last charge at Appomattox and who later as Democratic State chairman in North Carolina sent the famous telegram, "Hold Robeson and save the State," being on the platform, was commanded to make a speech and after the manner of soldiers, he obeyed orders and received an ovation that must have cheered his heroic heart. It was a dramatic situation. After Dixon's thrilling reading of the story of Cox's charge, now here was the man himself grizzled and aged, but still undaunted Southern general and military chieftain. Gen. Cox told several new and true stories of Lee and Jackson that gave a greater insight into the character of these two great leaders and the audience listened in rapt attention.

The Daughters took up the matter of the omission of the name of Mr. R. H. Ricks, of this city, in D. H. Hill's history, from the list of the celebrated six who volunteered to burn the house at Bethel in which attempt Private Wyatt was killed. It was unanimously decided to protest to Dr. Hill and Mr. F. S. Spruill stated that he hereby appointed himself a committee of one to see that the matter was promptly called to the attention of Dr. Hill.

The North Carolina flag from the Ransom Sherrill Chapter at Newton was presented to the president by Mrs. W. C. Feimster, the same to be borne by the president on her trip to the convention at Little Rock, Ark.

The State president, Mrs. Williams, was then called to the chair and the secretary called the roll of the various chapters and their representation, whether by proxy or by delegate was made known. After completion of this meeting the Daughters adjourned to the Cambridge Hotel, where at 1 o'clock there was served a luncheon by the city Aldermen complimentary to the North Carolina Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

At 2:30 this afternoon the convention opened for a several hours' business session. Tonight from 8:30 until 11 there was a reception by the Knights of Pythias in their hall in the Masonic Temple building.

CURE OF THE SICK, EFFECT OF PRAYER

Proposition Before Protestant Episcopal Convention Not Settled as Yet.

NEW FORM OF UNCTION IS UP

Bible the Word of God, Says House of Deputies.—Pensions For Aged Clergymen.—Other Proceedings or Body.

Cincinnati, Oct. 12.—The House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal convention today not only reversed its decision of a few days ago, when it refused to pass an amendment to the constitution providing for suffragan bishops, but also passed a resolution calling for a committee to investigate faith healing by means of prayer, or suggestion.

The suffragan bishop question was defeated by the House of Bishops last week, after the House of Deputies had adopted it. The vote at that time was close. Today it was brought up again as a special order of business, and was adopted by the bishops, by a vote of sixty to thirty-one.

Owing to the fact that the House of Deputies has adopted the amendment, it now becomes a law.

The greatest stir was caused when it was announced that the House of Bishops had passed a resolution calling for a committee to investigate unction to the sick for the sake of healing purposes rather than for spiritual needs.

This is the resolution that was defeated in the House of Deputies yesterday by a non-concurrence of orders, the resolution being adopted by the clerical division but defeated by the laity.

In all probability healing by prayer will be brought up again in the House of Deputies and, should this House decide to reverse its former action, bring in a report at the 1913 convention in New York.

A canon for the regulation of suffragan bishops was adopted by the House of Bishops. It gives these bishops an equal vote in the convention with regular bishops.

The Daughters of the King, a womans' organization held the first business session today.

There were addresses by Mrs. John Moncure, second vice-president of the council and president of the local assembly of Virginia, and by Miss E. J. Hall, diocesan secretary of North Carolina.

Cincinnati, October 12.—Although defeated in the House of Deputies by reason of the fact that the clerical and lay delegates did not agree upon it, of the Protestant Episcopal church, official of the Protestant Episcopal church, a form of prayer and unction for the sick, not as a sacrament in preparation for death, but as a means of healing, is far from being dead, in the opinion of its advocates.

The report of the joint committee on the subject is still to be acted upon in the House of Bishops, and if that body should approve it by a considerable majority, it is quite likely that the House of Deputies would reconsider its action and submit the question again to a vote.

The plans for such a ritual, if the convention should finally approve it, are to be drawn up by a committee of bishops, clergymen and laymen and reported to the next general convention.

No subject that has arisen since the convention began has aroused so much interest among church men of all orders. The opinions expressed range all the way from absolute faith in actual miracles through the power of God, to the utmost unbelief in the power of anything, but medical treatment to cure the sick.

These churchmen take the ground that expert medical advice is the prime essential in all cases of illness, but that of faith in ultimate cure can be inspired in the patient, either through religious ministration or otherwise, the physician's work will be greatly aided.

The House of Deputies today put itself squarely on record by a unanimous vote, as believing in the Bible as the Work of God, thus making official declaration that the statement to the contrary, made in the course of debate last Saturday by the Rev. A. A. Morrison, of Portland, Ore., did not represent the sentiment of the church as a whole. The matter was brought before the convention by the Rev. James R. Winchester, of Memphis,

M'CREA MADE GOOD WITNESS

President of Pennsylvania Tells of Necessity for Rate Increases Before Commerce Commission—Their Position.

Washington, Oct. 12.—President James McCrea, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, rendered illuminating testimony at today's hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the proposed advances in freight rates by the roads east of Chicago. He was on the witness stand throughout the day, and in the judgment of the members of the commission, proved an admirable witness.

He urged the necessity, from the viewpoint of the railroads, in making the proposed increases in rates on account of the increased expenses in wages incurred by the roads during the last ten years—aggregating 33 per cent. in the case of the Pennsylvania Railroad—the increased cost of living, which bears upon every operative in the railroad service, great or small, and the increased cost of maintenance of a railway service adequate to the needs of the American people.

He asserted that the results of the constant increase in the business of the Pennsylvania Railroad, through a long period of years, had been distributed either through reduction in rates, increases in amounts paid for wages, and material or by re-investments in the property not capitalized. He expressed the earnest belief that a property of the magnitude of the Pennsylvania Railroad tendering a service satisfactory to its patrons and "deriving, as it did, desire in 1910, net earnings to the amount of only 5.01 per cent. of the amount actually invested in the property" was entitled to fair consideration by the government and by the people and he could not understand how a system of rates which secured such results could be regarded as on too high a basis.

The hearing was conducted before the full commission, Chairman Marten A. Knapp presiding. It was attended by railroad officials from all parts of the Eastern trunk line territory.

The hearing probably will be concluded tomorrow afternoon, after the testimony of President Willard, of the Baltimore & Ohio and President Brown, of the New York Central, is heard.

The cross examination of Mr. McCrea was conducted by Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, representing the Atlantic coast shippers.

In a general way Mr. McCrea testified that the proposed advances in rates were considered necessary by his railroad because the increased inroads on the income had to be recouped by an advance in rates.

Mr. McCrea, speaking generally of freight conditions, declared: "What this country needs, and what has done so much to develop it, are transportation facilities. At this time, I feel that the improvements—additional facilities for all branches and for all kinds of service—are very badly needed. Any scheme of rates which does not provide for that, treating the railroads as a broad proposition, will fall short of what the country absolutely requires."

Mr. McCrea expressed the opinion that any properly capitalized company, economically and scientifically managed should be enabled to earn a minimum of 7 per cent. on the investment, particularly on account of the increased cost of living.

He said that it formerly was the policy of the Pennsylvania Railroad to put a dollar in improvements for every dollar paid in dividends, "but unfortunately we have not been able to continue that policy."

In response to inquiries Mr. McCrea said: "The United States needs a deal of improvement in transportation facilities, and that can be brought about only by enlisting additional capital. The carriers must have a fair return for the service they render. They must have a profit sufficient to make railroad securities attractive to investors."

In reply to inquiries by Commissioner Lane as to the condition of the market for railroad stocks and bonds, Mr. McCrea intimated that he was pessimistic as to the railroad bond and stock market of the immediate future.

In conclusion Mr. McCrea declared it as his opinion that the present situation could not be met in any other way than by an advance in freight rates.

"Railroads," said he, "necessarily live from hand-to-mouth. They cannot afford to discount the future. They cannot temporize. We are obliged to meet conditions as they arise from day to day."

Asked by Commissioner Prouty as to future railroad development of new territory, Mr. McCrea declared he believed no money would be available for new railroad enterprises.

"It is not possible," he asserted. "We cannot get the money anywhere for that sort of exploitation."

UNIVERSITY DAY AT CHAPEL HILL

President Venable Presents Cause of Institution at Celebration Yesterday.

NTERESTING EXERCISES HELD

History of Great Work Since Civil War—Other Speakers on Different Phases of The Life—Departments Suspended.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 12.—University Day was fittingly celebrated today at the University in commemoration of the 116th birthday of the institution. Holiday was observed in all departments and exercises were held in Memorial Hall.

All of the classes formed in line in front of the Alumni building whence they marched headed by the University band and the faculty to Memorial Hall.

President Venable made the principal address. He outlined the work and position of the University from 1875 to the present day. He showed how at that date the University stood at its crisis being able to re-open its doors after the throes of the Civil War only through the untiring and zealous work of Dr. Battle then president. At the present day the University again stands on the verge of a crisis. "It is suffering from its very success" the dormitories, labratories and general equipment are all inadequat to take care of the youth pouring into the leading educational institution of the State. As compared with two representative sister institutions in the South, the income the "University of North Carolina receives from the State is very small, being only 60 per cent. greater. President Venable closed his address with an utterance of his belief in the people of the State and his conviction that they would stand by the institution in the work of the greater University.

Following Dr. Venable's address Dean Raper in behalf of the trustees and faculty conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws on President Daniel Harvey Hill, of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. President Hill then in a few fitting words pledged himself a loyal son-in-law of the University. Greetings from friends and alumni of the University followed. Dean W. C. Smith spoke from the State Normal College. President R. H. Wright, an old star and captain of Carolina's football team, spoke in behalf of the Eastern Carolina Training School. President R. H. Rondthaler, from Salem Female College, and Superintendent W. R. Thompson, of the Stonewall Jackson Manual Training School, next followed with fitting remarks. Mr. C. L. Williams of the Senior class spoke in behalf of the students after the assembly sang "Carolina" and "Hark the Sound of Loyal Voices." Dean Graham read the list of the alumni of the University deceased during the past year, the faculty quartette sang "Integee Vitae" and the programme was closed with a benediction by Dr. W. R. L. Smith. Music was furnished by the University band and orchestra.

Dr. Venable's Address.

In addressing the large assemblage today Dr. Venable said:

The University was re-opened in 1875, just thirty five years ago. It had suffered greatly in the Reconstruction period. The old faculty was dismissed, a semblance of instruction was given to diminishing numbers of students, dwindling also in age and preparation until the end was reached and the doors were closed. Sorrowfully the months went by and the storms beat on the untenanted buildings, shorn now of their glory, and with only the memory of the many noble sons who had once thronged their halls and gained there the strength and inspiration which made them great in their country's service. The winds and the rustling leaves whispered of Wilson, the devoted missionary of Bishops Green and Otey and their great work for church and education; of James K. Polk, who ruled the nation; of Leonidas Polk, the beloved Bishop-General; of Graham, who had so wisely ordered the opening of Japan; of Benton, the great senator; of King, the vice-president; of Murphy, and Yancey and Wiley, who had wrought for the education of all the people; of Gaston and Badger and Ruffin, the great jurists; of Pettigrew and Vance and a host of others whose names now cluster as stars on the walls of Memorial Hall.

All were gone, the campus deserted, the buildings, open to storms and wandering strangers, apparatus broken or carried off, and this mother of generations of noble sons sat desolate in the ashes of her past.

How long were these halls to lie silent trend of eager youth who would follow in the footsteps of their fathers? How long could the people of the State afford to have the training school of their leaders empty? How long could the sons who loved her see their mother in helpless and shameful neglect? These were the cries that echoed through the State. The doors must be opened and the

This offer means a great deal to the contestants who are striving for the capital prizes, and should certainly be taken advantage of by one and all.

Get Busy Now.

Get busy now is the advice of the contest manager. Any one wishing to enter the contest may do so now by writing for a receipt book and sending in nomination blanks. Votes are given for both old and new subscriptions according to the schedule. The special offer, however, is for new business only. New subscribers are those whose names were not on the books at the time the contest started. Mere changes of name or from the house to store or office are not new subscribers. THE SOUTH CAROLINA WON.

New Battleship Took Trophy During Spring Battle Practice.

Washington, October 12.—Scores for elementary firing during Spring practice of the ships of the United States Navy, announced today, show the new battleship South Carolina was the trophy winner in her class with the Mississippi, Michigan and Idaho so close in order as to be called star ships. The results given show the relative efficiency in methods of training for the development of gun pointers under short range conditions and when firing guns singly.

The Charleston won the cruiser trophy, the Mayflower that for gunboats, and the Reid that for torpedo boats.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Brooklyn, Oct. 12.—Brooklyn closed the National League season here today by losing both ends of the holiday double-header to Boston. The visitors won by ninth-inning finishes. In the first game, after Brooklyn had tied the score in the eighth, the visitors batted in eight runs in the final inning, winning 9 to 2. Brooklyn led by 2 to 1, when Boston came to bat for the last time in the second contest. A base on balls, Getz's single, a squeeze play with Ferguson at bat and Collins' double turned impending defeat into a 3 to 2 victory. Brooklyn has released Pitchers Desseau and Manser to Rochester.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Exhibition Game.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—The American League team of All Stars again defeated the American League team, the score being 5 to 1. The home team's pitchers were the same as yesterday, Bender, Plank and Coombs and all of them were far more effective than in the first game of the series. They were given very poor support and the All Stars had no difficulty in winning. Walsh kept Philadelphia's hits scattered but a three bagger by Collins and an out in the ninth inning, prevented a shut out.

FAISON AND BUTLER.

Spoke Yesterday at Richlands, Onslow County—Democratic Day.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Jacksonville, N. C., Oct. 12.—Dr. Faison and Geo. E. Butler met in joint debate at Richlands today where more than 500 people had assembled to hear the political issues discussed by these debaters. Faison led with an hour's speech in which he discussed in a masterly way the State and National issues and was followed by George E. Butler, the Republican candidate, who failed to answer the argument of Dr. Faison. Faison then in a rejoinder of 20 minutes put Butler in a bad light when he opened up his record from his own county and his connection with Aman, the defaulting sheriff of Sampson county. It has been a Democratic day for Onslow. Faison is doing the work of Democracy.

SUIT AGAINST COAST LINE.

Florida Citrus Exchange Brings Action at Tampa, Fla.

Tampa, Fla., October 12.—It was announced today that the Florida Citrus Exchange, representing the Orange Growers, of Florida, has brought suit against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad to compel the enforcement of that section of the Hepburn act, which makes it the absolute duty of the initial carrier to be responsible financially to the shipper for any damage to goods in transit, whether such damage occurred on the lines of the initial carrier or those of a subsequent one.

The principle involved in this test case is one of the utmost importance to the citrus industry. Of the railroads operating in this State, the Atlantic Coast Line alone refuses to assume the liability imposed upon the initial carrier under the Hepburn act.

THE NEGRO PROBLEM AGAIN.

Address of Lehman Before Convention of Christian Churches.

Topeka, Kans., Oct. 12.—"If we do not take steps to discharge our duty toward the negroes, their degeneration will rapidly undermine our society."

So declared J. D. Lehman, president of the Southern Christian Institute in Mississippi at today's session of the National Convention of Christian Churches here today.

"The emancipation proclamation freed about four million slaves, or about one-eighth of our population. In the last 45 years, these have increased to about ten million, so that they are still about one-tenth of our population, in spite of the fact that millions of foreigners are cast on our shores every decade. In some localities they are 95 per cent. of the population; in some States they are over 50 per cent. and in the entire South nearly 40 per cent.

"The social conditions of our towns and villages are simply alarming. Unless we arrest sinister tendencies we must prepare to see in the next 50 or 75 years labor strife, mob violence and night rider depredations."

100 Million Dollars Worth of Shoes

These are stupendous figures, yet this is the yearly amount that the South spends for shoes. As a curiosity these figures may attract you for a minute, but the most curious thing about them is that three quarters of this money is regularly sent away from the South and the South is that much poorer for it.

You trade at a Southern shoe store. You give the dealer your money. You probably buy a western or northern made shoe. When the dealer pays his bill, this money, less a small per cent to the dealer, goes north or west and the South is that much poorer.

Keep your money at home. Let it work for better times, better wages, more factories, more work for Southern people.

Ask your dealer for The Craddock Shoe. Made in the South, by white labor, for Southern gentlemen. The best shoe value offered by any maker in the land for $3.50 and $4.00. Money spent for Craddock Shoes stays in the South, and pays Southern labor, Southern grocers, bakers and butchers.

It builds Southern factories, homes and schools.

We can support more and better industries. Let's each do his part.

SITUATION IN PORTUGAL.

Great Britain Will Recognize New Republic—Suicide.

Lisbon, Oct. 12.—The provisional government has received a telegram from President Comtesse, of Switzerland, announcing that government's recognition of the Portuguese republic. The British minister, Sir Francis H. Villiers, today handed the premier a note, stating that Great Britain would recognize the republic as soon as it was convinced that the revolution was absolutely ended and affairs in Portugal were in a normal state.

The government has issued a decree granting general amnesty to all military and naval offenders. The patriarch of Lisbon, manager Tonti, is announced, has signified his allegiance to the new regime. Senhor Teixeira Sousa, leader of the regenerador party, is organizing a new party, which wil accept republican institutions. A commission composed of officials of the ministry of finance has been appointed to make an inventory of the royal palaces and decided what property belongs to the King personally. This commission will also investigate the outstanding debts of the members of the royal family.

It is learned the suicide of Admiral Reis so disconcerted the revolutionists that it nearly wrecked their plans. It seems that shortly before the hour agreed upon for the mutiny the Minister of Marine signalled asking the warships whether they were ready to repel an attack at a moment's notice. This signal dismayed the conspirators, who refused to accompany Admiral Reis in a boat to the cruiser San Rafael to start the revolution, whereupon, in despair, the admiral killed himself.

The death of the admiral was pracarded, but Dr. Camacho convened the council and issued a denial, which saved the situation. Naval officer Machado Santos displayed great initiative in filling the gap caused by the death of Reis.

Capt. Desa, who commanded the royal yacht Amelie on the voyage to Gibraltar, says that during the night King Manuel discussed the situation frankly with his uncle, the Duke of Oporto. He expressed a certain feeling of satisfaction and declared that he was utterly weary of the burden of the crown and disgusted with the army of sycophants and place hunters around the throne. He even expressed admiration for some of the Republican leaders for their courage and energy, whereas the opposing sections of monarchists had shown neither resolution nor ordinary pluck.

Capt. Desa believes that the King bitterly felt his complete desertion in the hour of trial, not a single minister having tried to see him or inform him of the course of events. The members of the cabinet all fled or went into hiding.

ALABAMA POLITICS.

Fight Made Against Republican Candidate for Governor.

Anniston, Ala., October 12.—"Any man who votes for Joe Thompson for governor of Alabama votes indirectly to perpetuate the political power of Booker T. Washington in the South's political affairs."

The declaration, by J. C. Manning, one of the leaders of the so-called progressive element of the Republican party in this State, featured the meeting here today in the interest of the candidacy of C. H. Scott, candidate for governor on the progressive Republican ticket.

Manning declared that the only way to eliminate the well known negro educator from participation in Southern political affairs through the national administration is for the Alabama Republicans to repudiate at the polls the "regular" Republican organization, headed by Thompson for governor.

DENOUNCED THE COWARD.

Man Who Used Boy as a Shield for Fatal Bullet.

New York, Oct. 12.—"You are a dirty dog! The best thing that can happen to you is to get justice and get it quick."

In these words Coroner Feinberg today expressed his abhorrence of Adolph Berg, who was arraigned before him as the man who last night used Charles Fisher, a 12-year-old boy as a shield as the bullets fired at him by Harry Greenwald, an ex-prize fighter. The boy was killed and Greenwald committed suicide. Berg was held without bail on a charge of homicide.

AFFAIRS AT STATE CAPITAL

Adjutant General is Dead—Atlantic Hotel Charter—Social Side of Fair—Pardons Granted. Other News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 12.—News from the bedside of Adjutant General J. F. Armfield, of the North Carolina National Guard, at Statesville, was to the effect that he passed a good night last night, but the announcement of his death came as a great shock tonight.

The Atlantic Hotel Co., Wilmington, received a charter today with $250,000 capital authorized and authority to begin business when $5,000 is paid in. The incorporators are George G. Carter, J. A. Taylor, M. W. Jacobi, Thomas H. Wright and C. E. Taylor. It is understood that the company has on foot a movement to erect anotner big resort hotel on Wrightsville Beach.

The A. H. Motley Co., of Reidsville, amends its charter changing the denominations of its certificate of capital stock. J. W. Dameron is president of the corporation.

In arranging the social side of the great State Fair and Home Coming next week it has been settled that the marshals' ball will be given Friday night in the Capital Club ball room; that there will be an informal Capital Club smoker in honor of the Home Comers on Tuesday evening and a formal club dance on Wednesday evening. These will be the principal social events of the week, so far as public and semi-public functions are concerned.

The Raleigh and Wake County Alumni Association of the University of North Carolina observed University day tonight with an elaborate banquet, the menu for which was especially attractive and for which there were sets and impromptu toasts by prominent citizens. The preliminary arrangements were by Messrs. Albert Cox, Phil Busbee, W. M. Allen. There are 150 members of the association and the majority of them were gathered at the banqueting tables.

The Association adopted resolutions looking to the formation of a congress of the alumni of the University, the plan being for each local association to maintain membership and affiliation with the congress and send representatives to the sessions of the congress to be held at stated periods at the University.

It develops that Congressman Jack Beall, of Texas, found it possible to fill his Asheville engagement for a Democratic campaign speech today, although he had to cancel his engagements for Goldsboro and Raleigh on account of sickness in his family.

The funeral of ex-Sheriff J. T. Ellington, of Johnston county, was held this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Quite a number of prominent citizens and officials went from Raleigh for the funeral. Sheriff Ellington was 70 years old, a man of remarkably robust physique and for many years one of the most active political workers in the Democratic party hereabouts. He was for 20 years sheriff of Johnston and each year save one, was first of all the sheriffs in the county to settle State taxes with the State treasurer. He was a native of Johnston and was three times married. He is survived by his third wife and these children: J. O. Ellington, vice president and cashier of the Fourth National Bank of Fayetteville, and one while State bank examiner; Hunter Ellington, Smithfield; Douglass Ellington, Philadelphia; Eric Ellington, midshipman, United States Navy, now in South American waters; Kenneth B. Ellington, law student in the University of North Carolina; Mrs. V. A. Hocutt.

Lee Caldwell, a young white man of Warren county, who lived for six years in Manchester, Va., in the furniture business, proving a very good character there, but who has served two years of a six years' sentence in the State penitentiary for manslaughter, receives a pardon from Governor Kitchin conditioned on good behavior. The man Caldwell killed had a few days before the killing beaten Caldwell's mother without apparent good reason and when Caldwell met up with him he told his mother's assailant that he proposed to beat him or get beaten. The deceased then struck him with a hoe and the fatal encounter was on. Caldwell got the hoe from deceased and struck him with it and then the deceased used his knife for three severe cuts. The prisoner then ran backwards until he stumbled and fell. It was then that he drew his revolver and shot the deceased. The Governor states that the prisoner has maintained a fine record in the penitentiary and that in Manchester he was regarded as honest, industrious, temperate and polite The pardon is recommended by judge and solicitor.

There was also a pardon today for Robert Shoffner, serving 25 years from Guilford county for criminal intimacy with a girl under 14 years old. He has served ten years of the sentence, both being negroes. The crime of criminal assault was charged but a submission to the lesser charge was accepted by the prosecution. Many people, the Governor says, believed the man innocent and the trial judge and solicitor now take the view that the ten years' service is at least sufficient punishment. The pardon is conditioned on good behavior.

THE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Second Day's Session Full of Interest and Profit for Those in Attendance —Missions and Orphanage Work.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Willard, N. C., Oct. 12.—The second day of the Wilmington Baptist Association here opened with bright skies and pleasant and balmy atmosphere. The house was crowded to overflowing at 10 o'clock when the devotional meeting was lead by Rev. A. C. Chaffin, of Kerr, N. C.

The subject of Christian education, which was brought over from the last session, was continued and an interesting address was delivered by Rev. R. E. Peele. Rev. C. F. Whitlock spoke on the Delway school for a few minutes and the report was adopted.

Rev. A. C. Chaffin was elected to represent the Association in the Southern Baptist Convention which meets at Jacksonville, Fla., in May. D. L. Gore, A. L. Vann and W. H. Lewis were elected as messengers to the State convention which meets in Hendersonville in December.

The special order for 11 o'clock was the Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville and the report was read by Rev. W. B. Rivenbark and discussed by Rev. M. L. Kestler, of Thomasville, who has charge of the institution. After this stirring speech a cash collection was taken for the orphanage amounting to about $20.

The Association adjourned for dinner which was served in the grove yard by the church, to fully 500 people. The Association reassembled at 2 o'clock and took up the question of Home Missions. The report on this subject was prepared by Dr. Foster but in his absence was read by Rev. C. F. Whitlock and disucssed by the reader and by Rev. J. A. Smith, of Wilmington, and Rev. R. E. Peele, of Burgaw.

The order for the second hour in the afternoon was Woman's Work, which report was prepared by Mrs. G. A. Martin, of Wilmington, and read by Rev. A. C. Chaffin. The address on the subject was by Mr. Chaffin and by Rev. W. B. Rivenbark, of Teacheys. After routine business the Asociation adjourned to meet at 8 o'clock in the evening when the Missionary Sermon was preached by Rev. J. A. Smith, of Wilmington.

Tuesday's evening session was opened with prayer by Rev. Livingston Johnson, of Raleigh, and the special order for the first hour was State Missions. The report was read by Rev. G. A. Martin, of Wilmintgon, and the address of the hour was by Rev. Mr. Johnson, secretary of the State Mission Board. The second special order was Education and the report was read by Rev. R. E. Peele, of Burgaw, and was spoken upon by Drs. Vann, of Meredith College, and Prof. Hobgood, of Oxford Seminary. The subject was carried over to the morning session.

CATARRH
A SYSTEMIC BLOOD DISEASE

Catarrh is not merely an affection of the mucous membranes; it is a deep-seated blood disease in which the entire circulation and greater part of the system are involved. It is more commonly manifested in the head, nose and throat, because of the sensitive nature of these membranes, and also because they are more easily reached by irritating influences from the outside. The symptoms of Catarrh, such as a tight feeling in the head, nose stopped up, throat clogged and dry, hacking cough, etc., show that the tiny blood vessels of the mucous membranes are badly congested and inflamed from the impurities in the circulation. To cure Catarrh permanently the blood must be purified and the system cleansed of all unhealthy matter. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It attacks the disease at its head, goes down to the bottom of the trouble and makes a complete and lasting cure by PURIFYING the blood. Then the inflamed membranes begin to heal, the head is cleared, breathing becomes natural and easy, the throat is no longer clogged, and every unpleasant symptom of the disease disappears. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and for this reason is the most certain cure for Catarrh. Book on Catarrh and medical advice free to all who write.

Thursday, October 13, 1910.

When we come to think of it, the Portuguese monarchy must have been on its last legs, for it gave way before a revolution that wouldn't compare with an attack on the umpire by the bleacher force at a baseball game.

Says the Greensboro Record: "Many people want to know if the holders of the fraudulent State bonds are behind Marion Butler in his effort to get control of North Carolina." Well, we sould say not! However, we are not at all prepared to deny that they are in front of him so he can keep them in sight and not lose them as long as there is a chance for the crowd to break into the State Treasury.

This we get from the Columbia State: "Seven hundred and sixty-four Wilmington women visited a single store in a single day for the purpose of considering new bonnets,' says the Charlotte Observer. These Wilmington women are always welcomed on their annual trips to Columbia." We have no doubt of it. The entire male population of Columbia would turn out under the impression that a beauty show had come to town.

A man may advise you not to be a crook, but that is no guarantee that he is not one himself. People very frequently hand out advice to us and don't practice what they preach themselves. We have to judge a man by what he does instead of by what he says, or by what he advises us to do. There are some illustrious examples of men who can talk through their hats like a man endeavoring to effect the sale of a gold brick.

People are remarking upon the inexplicable quiescence of the Hon. Wm. J. Bryan. He surely is sawing wood and saying nothing, while some people are mildly surprised that he is not promulgating paramount issues and emphasizing popular principles. If you had as many things stolen from you as have been swiped from Col. Bryan, you wouldn't blame him for keeping quiet as the best means of preventing the stealing of his thunder.

A census bulletin from Washington on Tuesday night gave Charlotte's population as 34,014, an increase of 15,923 over 18,091 in 1900. This shows a big increase, the percentage being 88 per cent., gain in population in 10 years. Of course, the census return is 7,788 short of the population statistics of Col. Wade H. Harris, of the Charlotte Chronicle, but no doubt he will take immediate steps to set the government census aside as entirely out of order and not near so accurate as the city directory man's census.

In Atlanta a few days ago Col. Roosevelt set himself right with the Insurgents and tariff revisionists by repudiating the New York Republican platform plank endorsing the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. He then went right on to St. Louis and straightened out things with the standpatters, as a St. Louis dispatch in the Star yesterday, referring to his speech there, says the Colonel "defended the present position of the Republican party in regard to the tariff." It should be stated for the benefit of standpatters that "the present position of the Republican party in regard to the tariff" is an endorsement of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law which the ex-President repudiates and endorses in such a way it is impossible for you to understand just what he means. Roosevelt can handle the tariff question with an ambidexterity equal to that of Prof. Slicktrick who handles the bean so you can't tell whether it's under the thimble or up his sleeve. Uninformed people should realize that thimble-rigging is an art which keeps suckers guessing.

WATSON A VALUABLE ASSET.

During the past Summer the Hon. E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture and immigration agent for the State of South Carolina, delivered an address at Wrightsville Beach and is well remembered by many Wilmingtonians and North Carolinians. Watson is an ex-newspaper man and makes a good impression wherever he goes. He does that, however, because he makes good and accomplishes achievements of such value and magnitude as to win approval and commendation.

While he was in Wilmington the announcement was given out that the United States government had offered Colonel Watson an attractive position and we thought at the time that it would be a bad idea for South Carolina to let Watson entertain the idea of quitting his work in his State to engage in any kind of work for the government. We are glad to note that South Carolina's able, efficient and successful commissioner, for some reason or other, has decided to reject the government position and will continue his good work for South Carolina. Upon that matter the Florence, (S. C.) Times says:

"We are glad for the sake of the farmers of the State that E. J. Watson has determined to remain in charge of the bureau which he has so ably managed for the State for so many years and which he is just now about to gather the fruit from."

We are constrained to congratulate South Carolina that Colonel Watson has decided, or been induced, to remain at his post in his State. It would have been a mistake to have let his valuable services be taken away from his State. We know something about the scope and effectiveness of his work in the official position which he occupies, and what he has accomplished has conspicuously demonstrated that he is one of South Carolina's assets.

When a man performs services of far reaching value and unmistakable importance he becomes too valuable an asset to be parted with. He is worth something to his State and the more he accomplishes the more he is worth. The more he is worth to his State in the results he accomplishes the better justified is his State in compensating him in proportion to his achievements. If any good man's services are worth the money they should be retained and the only way to keep good men at the helm is not to permit them to leave a State and either go to the government or some other State on account of greater inducements.

North Carolina and South Carolina must offer sufficient inducement to keep their good men at home and not permit them to go away and become assets for the government or any other State. It pays to keep all good men on their jobs.

"DISCRIMINATING PRAISE."

The Hon. W. J. Bryan, editor of "The Commoner," Lincoln, Neb., expresses high appreciation of President Roosevelt's fecundity of vocabulary and of the artistic manner in which he con string words together so they appear to convey ideas in different directions at the same time. Editor Bryan wants us to notice how cute Col. Roosevelt is when it comes to fixing up phrases, and so as you will notice it and appreciate it, Colonel Bryan says in "The Commoner:"

"Have you read Mr. Roosevelt's endorsement of President Taft? If not read it. It is a literary gem. No one can hereafter doubt Mr. Roosevelt's skill in the selection of words; he is a master of nice distinction. According to the press dispatches he said that the laws passed during Mr. Taft's administration 'reflect high credit on all who succeeded in putting them in their present shape.' This is not praise for Mr. Taft, but praise for the Democrats and insurgents who succeeded in putting them in their present shape—which is quite different from the shape in which the President and his attorney general recommended them. He commends the laws as a 'sample of the achievement which is yet to come.' As a sample is small in comparison with the thing it represents it would look as if the things accomplished during the first half of the term were somewhat disappointing. When he speaks of the credit 'due to the Congress and our able, upright and distinguished President, William Howard Taft,' he puts Congress first. And what weak praise of the President!"

The editor of "The Commoner" has made good his point that the Roosevelt references to Taft are easily to be classed as "discriminating praise." Editor Bryan would have us believe that Associate Editor Roosevelt of The Outlook has "an extended vocabulary." We have long since been convinced of it, and when he constructs phrases from it, the ideas which they convey zig-zag like June lightning. There is about what Roosevelt says and writes a fine adaptation of the "now you see it and now you don't" qualification, indicating either the artist, the juggler, or the acrobat.

A New York policeman has retired with a fortune of $250,000. No doubt he "pulled" many disorderly people, but the wad he got off with would lead to the presumption that he also "pulled" somebody's leg.

A certain egotistic person is going around the country declaring he is going to "chase the crooks." Nevertheless, notwithstanding, the Pinkerton detectives are thoroughly convinced that they will have to go right on sleuthing and hawkshawking just as fi they had no ex-President to compete with.

"TAR HEEL TALES."

If North Carolinians desire to encourage literary production by home talent they should be eager to patronize home talent which has produced books of prose, stories, fiction and verse. The number of such productions is not so great that the edition of every North Carolina work should not be eagerly bought throughout the State. North Carolina authors have published some meritorious books and they should be in the homes of every intelligent North Carolinian. We must patronize and encourage home talent or else it will not produce and the State will have no literature.

"Tar Heel Tales" is altogether a meritorious and delightful book and those who read it will not only be amused and entertained but edified. This book is by a gifted newspaper man familiarly known as "Red Buck", who for so many years made the columns of the Charlotte Observer bright and cheery with stories of humane interest and everyday application. The author is Mr. H. E. C. Bryant, who is now managing editor of the Missoulian, published at Missoula, Mont., and which is one of the leading papers of the West. Mr. Bryant is a North Carolinian and he has produced a book which every North Carolinian should buy. His stories are unique and refreshing and in them Mr. Bryant proves himself to be the master of a negro dialect so natural that you have the real thing.

Without mentioning the stories in detail, we shall say that one, in which the old "mammy" tells about how the Republicans fooled her husband with the "40 acres and a mule" proposition, is chuck-full of humor, and, besides, it is a true bill showing how reconstructionists pulled the wool over the eyes of the ignorant and newly enfranchised negroes in the years following the Civil War. The fact is, "Tar Heel Tales" is a book worth having and it is appreciated wherever it is read, in either North Carolina or anywhere else. The Hon. Champ Clark, of Missouri, in writing to Mr. Bryant, expressed this high appreciation of his book:

"Your 'Tar Heel Tales' are delightful. They are as good negro dialect stories as have ever been put into print. The other night I had some work to do and thought I would read one of them as an appetizer for the work, but got so interested that I sat up until nearly daylight and read your stories like old man Harper, of Kentucky, used to run his horses, 'from eend to eend.' This is the first book I have read at one sitting in a long time. I hope that this is not the last one you will write."

"Tar Heel Tales" can be had at any bookstore or can be ordered through any book-dealer. The price is only $1.25, and that sum will add to North Carolinia libraries a book which certainly ought to be there.

If you haven't got any "fundamental principles" get you some to work in with your religion.

The Columbia State observes: "It is perfectly plain that old Mr. Joe Cannon has been 'given the silence'." They are afraid to let Uncle Joe make a noise for fear he will scare the hen off the nest while she is laying low in her efforts to cover up the rotten eggs which it is so necessary to keep hidden from view during this campaign.

If President Taft is going to have much more trouble with insurgents or has to worry himself any more by trying to keep up with any man who darts hither and thither, crossing his path, nobody will blame him for deciding that he doesn't want to be renominated any more than Senators Aldrich and Hale want to be Senators any more.

All men who make discoveries should look well after the proof in order to substantiate their allegation and satisfy confiding individuals who have decided to quit being guys. Some discoverers have acted in such a slack or irresponsible manner as to put the burden of proof on any of us who may be liable at any time to discover a mare's nest.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Colonel Roosevelt says he has been dragged into politics. Ever see a cat dragged toward a saucer of cream?—Philadelphia Record.

The condition of Republican insurgency is particularly hard on the "administration" newspapers in Washington. It is sometimes difficult to locate the administration.—Columbia State.

"The Bentztown Bard" of the Baltimore Sun sings in one of his poems: "The old-time patter-patter of the music of the rain." Sounds like the old standpatter and the ceasing of his reign.—Wilmington Star. The patter is just the same music as it always has been.—Durham Sun.

You just can't lose the Roosevelts. They keep in sight in spite of everything. One of them was the other day nominated for the New York State Senate, and on a Democratic ticket at that. He is the husband of the ex-President's niece, whose maiden name was Roosevelt.—Savannah News.

Roosevelt is on his way to Indiana to speak. Bryan will follow him. A message Mr. Bryan has sent to the Democratic managers indicates what the line of his attack will be. He has been well informed concerning the Saratoga platform, for he predicts that when Mr. Roosevelt reaches the Hoosier State "he will be half as insurgent as he was in Kansas and twice as insurgent as he was at Saratoga."—Raleigh News and Observer.

One of the main objections to the sort of homilies on the duty of men and women to be clean and honest and truthful he is preaching all over the country is that so many other men will think that they can turn the same trick with the same sort of cards. But it's a loo-loo hand he is playing and nobody else can play it.—Columbia State.

Writing from Columbus, O., a staff correspondent of the New York Evening Post says that for the November election Ohio Republicans fully expect defeat and are resigning themselves as well as they can. This correspondent, who is, of course, reliably impartial, has been unable to find any Republican who would profess more than very faint hopes of some political miracle or other at the last minute. There is also no question made that several Republican seats in Congress will be lost. Verily this seems to be a Democratic year, but far more so in States where the old standpat Republican machine still reigns than anywhere else.—Charlotte Observer.

Asheville's New Law Enforcement League After Blind Tigers.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 10.—Something of a stir was created in Asheville today when Col. V. S. Lusk, president of the recently organized law enforcement league, caused to be issued 19 warrants for Asheville men, charged with violating the prohibition laws. The warrants were made out and placed in the hands of the officers and speedily served. The alleged offenders include some of the best known soft drink dealers and cafe managers in the town. The evidence against the men, it is said, was worked up by plain-clothes men in the employ of the league. In fact, it is said that the league has had not less than three men on the job for the past two weeks. Colonel Lusk has vigorously prosecured every "tiger" case in court and he declares that he will run out of Asheville every "tiger" before he quits. He has certainly made a good start and the "tigers" are evidently scared. The hearing of the case will be held before Judge Cooke in city police court. It is probable that two or three days will be consumed in the trials. The alleged "tigers" will without doubt put up a hard fight and interesting developments are looked for.

BIG MAJORITY PREDICTED

Godwin Will Carry Practically Every County is Report of Executive Committeemen in Session Here—Organization.

That Congressman Hannibal L. Godwin, of Dunn, Democratic candidate for re-election as a member of Congress from the Sixth North Carolina Congressional District will sweep the district in the general election in November by the largest majority in years, was the encouraging reports made at the organization meeting of the newly chosen Congressional Executive Committee at The Orton Hotel, this city, yesterday afternoon.

The committeemen stated that there was practically no dissension anywhere among the Democrats of the district and that reports to them from every nook and corner of their respective counties indicate the election of Mr. Godwin by an overwhelming majority, notwithstanding the vigorous campaign being waged by the Republicans for control of the district.

The meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock, Mr. Wm. E. Springer, of this city, being named as temporary chairman, and a representative of The Star being asked to act as secretary. After roll call of counties, the committee proceeded to effect a permanent organization. Senator Geo. H. Bellamy, of Brunswick, was placed in nomination for chairman by J. C. Clifford, Esq., of Harnett, the same being seconded by Chairman Springer. Upon motion the election of Mr. Bellamy as chairman was made unanimous. Ex-Sheriff Geo. B. McLeod, of Robeson county, was unanimously elected secretary, upon motion of Mr. Clifford, seconded by J. R. Williamson, Esq., of Columbus. The committee is composed of one member from each county in the district as follows:

Harnett—R. G. Taylor.
Cumberland—George McNeill.
New Hanover—Wm. E. Springer.
Robeson—Geo. B. McLeod.
Columbus—J. R. Williamson.
Brunswick—Geo H. Bellamy.
Bladen—E. F. McCulloch.

Among those in attendance upon the meeting were Congressman H. L. Godwin; J. C. Clifford, Esq., of Dunn; J. R. Williamson, Esq., of Whiteville; ex-Sheriff Geo. B. McLeod, of Lumberton; Wm. E. Springer, of Wilmington; Woodus Kellum, Esq., and Jas. H. Cowan, of Wilmington.

Senator Bellamy, of Brunswick, was unable to be present, being in attendance upon and presiding over the Brunswick county Democratic convention held at Lockwoods Folly, and Mr. Springer presided over the entire session, which lasted about an hour.

The meeting was harmonious in every respect and plans for waging a vigorous campaign in order to swell the Democratic majority were outlined and decided upon in short order. Each committeeman in attendance stated that his county would roll up the largest Democratic majority in years and the reports to them indicated that the Republican candidate would be overwhelmingly defeated. The prospects are even exceedingly good for carrying Brunswick county.

Congressman Godwin stated that he had visited a number of places in the district and made campaign speeches and that he was confident of a big majority in November. Mr. Godwin left last night for Columbus county, where he will deliver several campaign speeches and will then go into Robeson county for several days. Monday week nis joint canvass with Iredell Meares, Esq., Republican candidate, begins at Lillington, winding up at Southport November 1st.

NEWS OF THE SHIPPING.

Schooner Rose Clears With New Crew—Head Winds Delays Lupton.

After a delay of several days in securing a new crew, the schooner John Rose, Capt. Douglas, cleared yesterday for New York with cargo of 528,000 feet of lumber from the Cape Fear Lumber Company. The captain had trouble with his old crew soon after the schooner arrived here, one of them deserting and three others being discharged. His ship has an entire new crew with the exception of the mate.

The schooner F. & T. Lupton, Capt. Longstreet, which cleared last Sunday a week ago, sailed yesterday from Southport for Philadelphia with cargo of cross-ties. The vessel has been delayed on account of head winds.

The British steamer Frieda, which will receive a cargo of gum logs for foreign export was placed at the wharf of the Acme Tea Chest Company yesterday to begin receiving cargo.

KELLY-DUNN NUPTIALS.

Quiet Home Marriage in This City Last Night.

Mr. John H. Kelly and Mrs. Alice F. Dunn, both of Portsmouth, Va., were quietly united in marriage at 7 o'clock last evening, the ceremony being performed at the home of a brother of the bride, Mr. S. C. Dunn, No. 221 South Front Street, Rev. K. D. Holmes, pastor of Fifth Street Methodist church, officiating, in the presence of members of the family and only a few intimate friends. The bride has been here for several weeks on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Dunn and Mr. Kelly arrived yesterday at noon. The bride has made many friends during her visit here, all of whom extend their best wishes. The groom holds a position in the car shops of the Seaboard Air Line at Portsmouth, Va., where he has a wide circle of friends. They will leave tomorrow morning for Portsmouth, where they will reside.

Steamer Made Quick Trip.

The steamer Wilmington yesterday made the trip from Southport to the city in about an hour and a half, which is an exceptionally rapid trip. Capt. Jno. W. Harper, the master and owner, was at the wheel and with a flood tide the steamer made one of her record trips up the river. It will be recalled that the steamer recently returned from Charleston, where she went on the railway and had her bottom scrapped and painted, which gives her good speed and a graceful slide through the waters of the old Cape Fear.

TROLLEY LINE TO THE COAST

Rumor That Southern Power Company Will Construct Line from Charlotte to Wilmington or Lease Tracks.

The following from yesterday's Charlotte Observer will be read with much interest here, whether there is anything in the report that Charlotte and Wilmington may be connected by trolley or not:

"The acquisition of the plant of the Blewett Falls power development near Rockingham as a source of supply for hydro-electrical energy with which to operate a trolley line between Charlotte and Wilmington is the latest report in connection with the intention of the Southern Power Company and the mammoth interurban system, which it is planning for the Piedmont.

"In this connection it is interesting to learn that negotiations have been pending for some time now between the Southern Power Company and the Seaboard Air Line in regard to leasing that strip of the road's lines running between Charlotte and Wilmington. Such a report has been out for some weeks, but nothing definite has been consummated and nothing will probably be given out to the result of such efforts on the part of the Southern Power Company until Mr. W. S. Lee, chief engineer and vice-president, returns from Europe, where he has been for some weeks, making investigations in regard to another development of his concern.

"Announcement was made some days ago of the probability of the Southern Power Company becoming the owner of the plant of the Rockingham Power Company located at Blewett Falls. This is one of the greatest power developments in the Carolinas and compares favorably with the larger developments of the Southern Power itself on the Catawba and Broad rivers in South Carolina. The Blewett Falls plant has been in process of building for a number of years and, on account of the stringency in the money market two years ago, operations were for a time interrupted. The work has been financed by wealthy New York and Boston men and when the plan was in its incipiency great things were held in mind by the concern for that portion of the State. The plant was to have been sold in New York, October 5, but nothing has been heard as to whether the deal was ever consummated or not. The Southern Power Company was acknowledged to be the prospective purchaser of the entire holdings of the concern.

"It is beyond question that the Blewett Falls plant was desired by the Southern Power Company to complete its interurban system by extending a line to Wilmington and thus belief is borne out by the reported negotiations which have been pending between the company and the Seaboard in regard to leasing the line now being operated between this city and the coast to be converted into a trolley line.

"Power from the Blewett Falls development is available for such purposes or for any other for which the Southern Power Company might desire to apply it. To come into possession of a plant of this sort, modern in all of its particulars and a wonderful development from the standpoint of engineering genius, would simply save the company the expense and time of building another plant from which to secure sufficient current to extend its line.

"Mammoth things are being planned by the company for this section. Much has already been written about the proposition of interlinking Charlotte, Spartanburg, Greenville, and Anderson and other cities in South Carolina by a system of trolley lines under control of this company. Franchises have already been granted the Piedmont Traction Company and it is anticipated that the work will actually begin in the course of a few months. The Southern Power Company has witnessed the marvellous developments which have been going on in the Piedmont section of the Carolinas within recent years and in which it has participated to a liberal extent. Its plans are to link the prominent towns and cities of the section with a special view of facilitating freight shipments as well as to operate a passenger service. The former business is of course the more important and that from which the company hopes to eventually reap a revenue.

"It is, therefore, natural enough to suppose that the company will have to secure an outlet to the coast and for this reason the proposition oc constructing a line to Wilmington is one of the more important matters in connection with the development. The necessity for securing a route to the coast where the volumes of freight can be conveyed to distant markets is apparent and whether the company goes to the expense of constructing a line from Charlotte to Wilmington as an auxiliary to its interurban system in the lower section of the Carolinas, it will be essential that some sort of an arrangement be made with the Seaboard Air Line by which the necessary link in the system can be furnished.

"The Southern Power Company is everlastingly doing things and only now and then does an intimation creep out as to the normity of some of its plans. The new development seems to be numbered among the larger propositions with which its officials are busying themselves at this moment."

CASES BEFORE RECORDER

Eugene Harris Given Hearing on Charge of Violating Near-Beer Ordinance.—Decision Reserved Until Today.—Other Cases.

Superior Court having adjourned Tuesday afternoon, the Recorder's court is now being held in the Court House as usual. There were several cases for the court's attention yesterday morning, but the decision in those of most interest was reserved until today.

The Recorder has not yet announced his decision in the cases against Magistrate J. H. Sykes who was tried Tuesday on the charge of nuisance and carrying concealed weapons, judgment being continued until today.

Eugene Harris, a young white man, was given hearing on the charge of selling near-beer without license, Lang Sellers being the principal witness. Sellers testified that he bought near-beer from the defendant at 11th and Market streets. Harris and Thos. Croom testified that it was root beer that was purchased by Sellers. Woodus Kellum, Esq., appeared for the defendant, while Marsden Bellamy, Esq., county attorney, represented the prosecution. The Recorder reserved his decision until today.

John H. Whiteman, Jr., colored, was arraigned on the charge of cruelty to animals. Jusuce George Harris was the principal witness against the defendant. He testified that he noticed the defendant driving a horse which was so poor that he could hardly pull the vehicle attached to him. The court reserved decision until today.

George Singletary, colored, was found not guilty of the charge of assault on a negro woman named Gina Boyd. Geo. L. Peschau, Esq. appeared for the defendant.

Elias Miller, an eight-year-old colored youth, who cut and seriously wounded Sampson Kelly, 15-year-old, at Tenth and Castle streets, Tuesday evening, about 9 o'clock, was in court to answer the charge of assault with deadly weapon. The Recorder told the boy's mother to take him home and that if the court desired his presence later, an officer would be sent for him. Owing to the age of the youth it is hardly probable that he will be prosecuted.

HON. THOS. SETTLE TO SPEAK.

Distinguished Republican Here on Saturday Night—Committee.

The Republican Executive Committee of New Hanover, Mr. John W. Brooks, chairman, held a very enthusiastic meeting last evening at which all arrangements were made for the address of the Hon. Thos. Settle, of Asheville, in the Court House in this city next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Settle is well and most favorably known in Wilmington and as a speaker has few, if any, superiors in the State. He has been heard in Wilmington before and will be heard on this occasion with interest and pleasure by men of all parties. He will be presented to his audience in New Hanover Saturday night by the Hon. J. Iredell Meares, Republican candidate for Congress in this district. An effort was made to have the date changed from Saturday night for obvious reasons, but this was found impossible, as the itinerary had already been mapped out and advertised for the date upon which he will be here.

FIFTH STREET REVIVAL.

Series of Meetings Begin Tonight.—Mr. Butler Comes Today.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Butler and little child. The service tonight will begin at 8 o'clock and the public generally is invited to attend.

The incorporators of the hotel company are Messrs. J. Allen Taylor, C. E. Taylor, Marcus W. Jacobi, Geo. G. Carter and Thomas H. Wright, these gentlemen being named at the meeting last Tuesday at the Chamber of Commerce.

The new beach hotel project is being carried forward in a determined manner and it is urged that a full attendance of the stockholders be present today.

Mr. Geo. G. Carter received a telegram yesterday from J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State, stating that the papers of incorporation for the new hotel had been filed and would be acted upon at the earliest possible moment.

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA.

Scientists are now agreed that the eczema germs are lodged not in the outer skins or epidermis, but in the inner skin. Hence, a penetrating liquid is required, not an outward salve that clogs the pores.

We recommend to all eczema patients the standard prescription Oil of Wintergreen as compounded in liquid form known as D. D. D. Prescription. A trial bottle of this D. D. D. Prescription, at only 25 cents, will instantly relieve the itch. We have sold and recommended this remedy for years and know of wonderful cures from its use. We recommend it to our patrons.

BRUNSWICK DEMOCRATS MEET

Strong County and Legislative Ticket Named in Mass Convention at Lockwood's Folly Yesterday. Largely Attended.

With a large attendance and deep interest that augurs well for the success of the party in the general election in November, the Democrats of Brunswick county met in mass convention at Lockwood's Folly bridge yesterday at noon and nominated a full county and legislative ticket and transacted other business of importance.

It was a thoroughly harmonious meeting, not a single discordant note being sounded during the three hours' session, and leaders of the party in the county feel that nearly all of the nominees will be elected. The meeting was called to order by ex-Sheriff Peter Rourk, of Shallotte, chairman of the county executive committee. Senator Geo. H. Bellamy was elected temporary chairman and Mr. Fefel, of Southport, named as temporary chairman. The temporary organization was later made permanent and the convention then proceeded to the nomination of a full ticket, resulting as follows:

House of Representatives—Dr. E. W. Jones, Shallotte.
Sheriff—Peter Rourk, Shallotte.
Clerk of Court—R. S. Newton, Southport (the incumbent).
Register of Deeds—W. R. Holmes, Shallotte.
Treasurer—J. L. Simmons, Supply.
Coroner—A. C. Edwards, Ashe.
Surveyor—R. M. Edawrds, Ashe.
County Commissioners—J. Cleveland Lewis, Town Creek; Richard Dosher and David Ward, both of Southport.

Executive Committee—Town Creek township, Senator Geo. H. Bellamy; Northwest, J. D. Robbins; Smithville, S. W. Smith; Lockwood's Folly, J. W. Lancaster; Shallotte, Geo. T. Rourk; Waccamaw, L. M. Todd. The committee will meet later to elect a chairman and secretary.

There were about three hundred of the most active Democrats in the county in attendance upon the meeting. Several rousing speeches were made in which it was freely predicted that practically the entire ticket, considered very strong, would be elected in November. Brunswick county is always very close and never carried by either side by any great margin.

ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Isaiah Ballard, Colored, Accused of Slashing William Dry.

A search of two weeks for Isaiah Ballard, colored, for whom a warrant had been issued charging him with severely cutting William Dry, colored, at Macomber's dance hall, near Wrightsville Sound, resulted successfully yesterday afternoon, and the negro is now in jail in default of a $250 bond to await hearing before Justice Harriss tomorrow, when Dry, it is thought, will be able to leave the hospital. Officers have been searching the city for two weeks for Ballard, but it remained for Justice Harriss, who is something of a detective as well as a little of everything else when it comes to preserving the peace and dignity of the State and Nation, to locate the whereabouts of the negro, who had successfully eluded the police. Ballard has been working at the Cape Fear Club for some time. Justice Harriss learned yesterday afternoon that the negro was there and forthwith detailed Constable Savage with the proper papers to make the arrest. A short time later the negro was in the office of the magistrate. Ballard stated most positively that while he was at the dance on the night of the cutting he was not the one who wielded the weapon, stating further that he had never carried a knife or razor. Later, when given the name of the chief witness against him, Ballard said that perhaps the witness knew what he was talking about. A telephone message from the hospital was to the effect that Dry, who was severely slashed just below the breast bone, was rapidly recovering and would be discharged from the institution Thursday. The justice then set the hearing for Thursday and committed Ballard to jail in default of bond.

It was stated that Ballard's brother was also mixed up in the trouble and that he had left the city.

RIVER AND HARBOR WORK

Proposals Issued Yesterday Inviting Bids for Dredging Smiths Creek, Harbors at Morehead and at Beaufort.

Proposals were issued yesterday from the office of Capt. Earl I. Brown, United States Engineer in charge of this district, inviting bids for dredging Smiths Creek, Morehead City and Beaufort harbors, the bids to be opened in the office here at noon November 12th. This is only a portion of the work to be done during the year under the direction of the local engineer.

Smiths Creek is a small tributary of the Neuse river in Pamlico county, flowing into the latter stream at the town of Oriental. The portions under improvement extend from the town of Oriental to the Neuse river, a distance of about four-fifths of a mile, including a shallow bay just east of the mouth of the river which extends back into the town of Oriental. The work to be done consists of dredging a basin ten feet deep at mean low water and about 1,560 feet long, varying in width from 800 to 150 feet; also of some dredging in the existing 10-foot channel from the wharves in Oriental to the Neuse river, a distance of about four-fifths of a mile. The present depth in the bay in the town gradually decreases from 10 feet at the channel end to about 2.2 feet at the head of the proposed improvement. The amount of material to be removed is estimated at 130,000 cubic yards.

The work proposed at Morehead City consists of deepening the existing channel to a depth of 10 feet at mean low water, with width of 100 feet for 2,800 feet of its length, and a width of 200 feet for 1,000 feet of its length. The existing depth in the area to be dredged varies rom 2.2 feet to 7.6 feet. It is estimated that 152,000 cubic yards of material are to be removed.

At Beaufort harbor the work consists of deepening the present channel to a depth of 10 feet at mean low water with a width of 60 feet. The minimum depth of the existing channel is about 3.5 feet. In the length of the area to be dredged (about 3.6 miles) a depth of over 10 feet exists for a distance of about four-fifths of a mile, where no dredging will be required. The width of the existing channel varies from 100 to 300 feet. The amount of material to be removed is estimated at 221,408 cubic yards.

If upon the completion of this work any funds remain in hand the unexpended balance will be used for constructing a turning basin in front of the town of Beaufort, which work will be done by the contractor at the contract rates.

WILL IMPROVE BUILDING.

Mr. Thos. H. Wright Will Remodel Structure on Princess Street.

Mr. Thos. H. Wright, the owner, has announced that the building on the north side of Princess, between Front and Second, known as the Smith building, has been given a new name, and that it will henceforth be known as the Princess building. Mr. Wright also announces that the building is to undergo considerable changes and improvements within the next few weeks. The entrance to the upper stories of the building will be of marble and stone, the contract for which will be let to the Carolina Cut Stone Company. Both the second and third floors will be remodelled and the third floor will be converted into living apartments, which may be used by gentlemen or by couples desiring to do light housekeeping. The improvements will add greatly to the appearance of the building as well as to make it more desirable for tenants.

Raised Watermelons on Beach.

Capt. Wells, who runs the Seashore Hotel cafe on Wrightsville Beach, has raised a vine of well matured watermelons in the sand in front of the hotel, during the past two months. One of the melons, which was pulled from the vine this week, weighed 15 pounds, and there are several others that will be ripe within the next three weeks. The vine grew from seed that were thrown from the hotel during the Summer and was nurtured by Capt. Wells.

THE ORTON CAFE.

Will be Re-Opened Within the Next 30 Days Under Same Management.

After being temporarily closed during the Summer months, the cafe at The Orton Hotel will re-open within the next 30 days under the management of J. T. Quarles, as heretofore. The work of remodelling the basement of the hotel for the cafe has already been begun and will be completed in a short time. Entrance to the cafe will be from the street, at the south end of the hotel porch, a handsome flight of marble steps being installed. The hotel cafe proved very popular in the past and will doubtless receive a liberal patronage when it re-opens for business.

Had Hand Badly Burned.

Friends of Mr. J. R. Mellican, an employe of the Tidewater Power Company, on the street cars, learned with regret yesterday that one of his hands was badly burned Tuesday night about 11:30 o'clock. Mr. Millican dropped a dime in his car, the money falling behind a seat near the door. Just behind the seats are places for two fuses to provide heat for the car during the Winter months. Owing to the fact that no heat in the cars is required in the Summer and early Fall the fuses were not in place. Mr. Millican reached behind the seat to recover the dime, and in doing so, it is thought that he touched both fuse sockets, thus forming a circuit. Instantly there was a flare of electricity and his hand was painfully burned before he was released. It will probably be a week before Mr. Millican is able to return to his duties.

Celebration Was Postponed.

The local alumni of the University of North Carolina, did not have any formal celebration yesterday, which marked the anniversary of the founding of the institution, deciding to celebrate the latter part of November instead. Plans were on foot for a celebration last night, but it was later decided that as there was some delay in perfecting arrangements, it would be better to wait until about Thanksgiving Day, when a number of the present students at the University will be home for the holidays and can take part in the affair. Several speakers will be invited, among the number will be a member of the University faculty.

Celebrated "Discovery Day."

Columbus Day, marking the anniversary of the discovery of America, was fittingly observed by the Knights of Columbus of this city, at their hall on North Third street, near Princess, last night. The event was in the form of a smoker and was greatly enjoyed by the large number in attendance. A number of short talks were made, adding much to the pleasant occasion.

Louisville, Miss., Oct. 12.—Swinton Permenter, who was last night found guilty of murder in the first degree for the killing of Miss Janie Sharp, near here several months ago, was brought into court today and sentenced to be hanged November 25th.

BROKEN ARROW LADY SAYS WELCOME

Mrs. Guffey, of Broken Arrow, Says Few Words That Mean Much.

Broken Arrow, Okla.—"You are welcome," says Mrs. Nora Guffey, of this place, "to use my letter in any way you want to, if it can be the means of inducing some suffering woman to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. Since taking Cardui, I am in better health than ever was, and that means much, because I suffered many years with female troubles of different kinds. What other treatments I tried, helped me for a few days only."

Every woman would always keep Cardui handy, if she knew what quick and permanent results it gives, in cases where weakened vitality indicates the need of a strengthening tonic.

Remember that Cardui is a purely vegetable extract, composed of valuable medicinal ingredients, which have been found to build up the vitality, tone up the nerves, and strengthen the womanly constitution.

Cardui has been in successful use for more than 50 years.

Thousands of women, all over the country, know by actual experience what it will do, for the ailments to which women are peculiarly liable.

That it has helped others is the best of proof that it will help you. Try it.

ADJT. GENERAL ARMFIELD DEAD

Head of North Carolina Guard Passed Away At Statesville, N. C.

Statesville, N. C., Oct. 12.—Adjutant General James F. Armfield, head of the North Carolina National Guard, died here tonight of Bright's Disease. He was 48 years old and unmarried. He descended from one of the State's most prominent families. General Armfield enlisted in the local company of militia as a private at an early age and filled every office and on the State's staff to the highest rank. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American War General Armfield was appointed colonel of the first regiment, United States Volunteers, and served as brigadier general of the second division of the seventh army corps. At the close of the war Governor Aycock made him brigadier general of the guard and Governor Kitchen appointed him adjutant general and chief of staff.

News of the death of General Armfield was received here early last night in a telegram from Col. Leinster, of Statesville, assistant Adjutant General of the North Carolina National Guard, to Col. John VanB. Metts, of the Second North Carolina Regiment. The message stated that General Armfield passed away at 7:45 o'clock P. M. and that the funeral would be with military honors. General Armfield was a personal friend of Co. Metts, who in common with hundreds of others throughout the State are deeply grieved to learn of his passing. Colonel Metts spoke most eulogistically of General Armfield, declaring that in his death the North Carolina Guard had suffered an irreparable loss. Much of the success of the guard in the past few years has been due to the untiring efforts of General Armfield. He was Brigade Commander during Governor Glenn's term in office and was appointed Adjutant General by Governor Kitchen. His record is an exceptionally fine one and he will be sorely missed in State military circles. General Armfield enlisted for service during the Spanish-American war and was colonel of the First North Carolina Regiment, making a splendid officer.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Claude Grahame-White, the English aviator, accompanied by Clifford B. He flew for five minutes, circling the Bennings Race Track, and tomorrow he will make exhibition flight and may detour over the capitol, the White House and the Washington Monument.

Among those who greeted the English aviator, Mr. Harmon and Mr. Ryan at the reception tonight were Lieut. General Nelson A. Miles, retired; Major George Squier, of the Signal Corps; Prof. Willis L. SOUTHERN RAILWAY GAINS.

Annual Report Shows $1,921,863 in Net Revenues.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12.—A gain of $1,921,663.33 in net revenues for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1910, is shown by the 16th annual report of the Southern Railway, just made public. The operating income was $16,698,020.03, a gain of $1,858,631.65 for the year. The report also shows that 355 new industrial plants were constructed during the year along the lines operated by the company, with 72 more in course of construction.

No new construction was undertaken during the past year, but there remains from work previously begun about 80 miles of track to be finished including the Lynchburg, Va., tunnel, in which a disastrous fire occurred last year. The increase of wage scale recently announced, it is said, will add nearly $2,000,000 to the annual payroll.

AFTERMATH OF FIRE.

Governor Reassures Refugees in Minnesota.—Former Town Village of Tents.

Baudette, Minn., October 12.—With Governor Eberhart passing energetically among them, slapping the hardy woodsmen on the back and speaking in their native tongue a word of encouragement here and there to the heroic men and women, who refuse to complain, the fire refugees were happier today than at any time since the forest fires wrought their work of death and ruin.

Relief from the outside is beginning to come in fast. A special train arrived today with Governor Eberhart and a number of State officials and other specials from Crookston and Winnipeg brought tents, food and a good supply of clothing, which, as it turned cold last night, was much needed.

Baudette is rapidly becoming a village of tents. There are plenty of provisions for the present. The Crookston train brought in 4,000 loaves of freshly baked bread in addition to a general line of groceries, clothing and $1,000 in currency, which was raised in two hours.

With the arrival today of Theodore Stakacken, from 25 miles south on the Rapid river, nearly all of the settlers in the fire zone have been accounted for. The report last night that the Mattson family of seven had perished, has not been confirmed. This leaves the number of known dead around Baudette at 29.

Stabacken had an especially harrowing experience when the fires swept over him and his family Friday. Anticipating the approaching danger, he hastily constructed a raft and with his family pushed out into the Rapid river. Flames almost met in the middle of the stream. The members of the family kept constantly splashing water on themselves, and at one time Stabacken was obliged to all but submerge his six months old twin boys in the stream. When the worst of the flames had passed over, a landing was made and the whole family lay around a camp fire in their wet clothing all night. In the morning they made their way to an unburned cabin, a distance of three miles, where they joined other refugees.

Washington, October 12.—The timber on about 20 square miles of territory in the Rocky mountains, west of Denver, has been consumed by the fierce forest fire which broke out yesterday in that region, according to a telegram received today by General Land Commissioner Dennett, from Chief Agent McEnery, who is stationed at Denver. The progress of the fire eastward has been stayed, but it was extending in other directions. Forty men, under two timber cruisers, were dispatched last night to fight the flames, but Mr. McEnery expressed the opinion that it might be necessary to reinforce the fire-fighters tomorrow. The fire is in a sparsely settled section and no loss of life in anticipated.

TO STOP REVOLUTION.

Number of Men Jailed in Mexico City This Week.

Mexico City, Oct. 12.—Gustave Madero, a brother of Francis I. Madero, is in prison, charged with having tried to induce a number of army officers to start a revolution against the government. General Meliton Hurtado complained to the authorities that Madero had made revolutionary suggestions to him a few days ago, and said that several other officers had been sounded on the subject.

Madero's arrest became known today. He was placed in jail on Monday and today was examined behind closed doors by the judge of the second district court.

Two friends of Madero, Margareito Loano and Jesus Higuerea Sevilla are also in prison under similar charges. The three men deny the allegations.

Lexington, Ky., October 12.—The lowest prices thus far realized at the sale of pooled tobacco, by the Burley Society, resulted from today's auction sales. While prices went as high as $18.75 a hundred, the average for the 1,806 hogsheads sold today was only $8.56 a hundred.

AT THE THEATRES.

It is refreshing once in a while to get a play that is absolutely new. That is the treat promised to the patrons of Thomas Dixon's "The Sins of the Father" at the Academy of Music, Saturday, matinee and night.

Plot, characters, dialogue, scenes and situations bear the stamp of originality. There is nothing reminiscent of his previous works, "The Clansman" and "The Traitor," except in the one fact of the author's wonderful dramatic ability. Mr. Dixon could not have borrowed from other sources even if he had wanted to for the subject itself is absolutely novel to the stage. Mr. Dixon is the first to treat this vital phase of the race question in dramatic form. His treatment of it, moreover, is not historical but contemporary—true to the very hour and minute. It concerns everybody in the South—yes, in the United States, today. It is not to be had within the covers of a book, for it is not based on a novel.

Mr. Dixon will be in Wilmington and address both the afternoon and night audiences. Seats go on sale at Plummer's at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning.

DISCOVERY OF THE LOVERS.

Striking Climax in "Sins of the Father," Academy of Music Saturday Matinee and Night.

The Starkey Players.

One of the best and most thoroughly equipped popular priced attractions on the road, is said to be "Starkey's Players," with W. H. Starkey, the Carleton Sisters and a company of players far above the average actors seen in companies of this kind, which will appear at the Academy of Music for one week, commencing Monday, October 11th. Of the productions given during the week there will be found no old plays under new titles. Every play presented is controlled exclusively by this company. The play selected for the opening night is "The Little Homestead." It is a comedy drama that has been constructed on original lines, with a touch of real humor, that is at all times refreshing. This accounts for the fact that it is one of the greatest successes of the stage at the present time. Its story is interestingly told, while the comedy that is interspersed in liberal quantities, lend in brightness and cheerfulness that is all its own. It blends sentiments, heroics, comedy and picturesqueness in the most skillful fashion. A change of play at each performance will be given with the usual matinees. Popular prices will prevail during the engagement.

Seats will go on sale at Plummer's Saturday morning. The usual courtesy of free tickets will be extended the ladies for Monday night.

At the Bijou Today.

The bill at the Bijou theatre today will be featured by an excellent Biograph subject, entitled "A Summer Tragedy," showing that nerve is a most valuable assets of the human animal. "True to His Trust," is the title of another picture that will prove of interest to the patrons of the resort. It is a high-class Indian drama depicting the life of a frontier settler and his family and shows the resourcefulness of his young son.

Mid-Week Change at Crystal.

The regular mid-week change of programme is effective today at the Crystal Palace, which is presenting an unusually attractive vaudeville bill this week, as well as clever and interesting motion pictures.

At Joyland Today.

By request the management of Joyland will again show the big feature film, "The Right Girl," which is one of the best dramas that the Imp. Motion Picture Co., has ever produced. The dishing washing machine keeps one laughing all the way through. Another big feature is one of the Powers Picture plays, Cohen & Murphy, a comedy that will cure the blues.

WILLIAM BARNES OUT.

Republican Leader Tenders Resignation—Gives Reasons for Action.

New York, Oct. 12.—The resignation of William Barnes, Jr., the Albany "old guard" leader, from the State committee, was the big event in Republican circles here today. State Chairman Prentice, and Henry L. Stimson, the nominee for governor, acknowledged that the Albany committeeman's action was a surprise.

Immediately after having received Mr. Barnes letter of resignation saying that the failure to re-appoint him on the executive committee indicated either that his services were no longer useful or that he was "faithless" to the Republican ticket, Chairman Prentice issued a statement disclaiming both of those suppositions.

No action was taken today regarding the selection of a successor to Mr. Barnes.

Mr. Barnes led the fight against the selection of Col. Roosevelt as temporary chairman of the Republican State convention at Saratoga.

In his letter Mr. Barnes says: "In reading the list of the members of the executive committee of the State committee, announced by you this morning, I find that my name is not among the number.

"The mere fact of membership in the new executive committee is entirely unimportant, but after having served as a member of that committee ever since I was first elected to the State committee in 1892, the omission involves the inevitable conclusion that your action was caused either by your belief that my services would not be useful, or that I was faithless to the Republican ticket. Under neither supposition can I rest.

"Having been a member of the executive committee for 18 years, if my services are no longer useful, or my party loyalty is questioned by you as the head of the organization, then I am no longer qualified to serve under you as a member of the State committee itself.

"I cannot, therefore, maintain the proper sense of political ethics and serve upon a committee, the chairman of which holds the attitude toward my political activity, which you have disclosed. I, therefore, tender my resignation to you as a member of the State committee to take effect immediately."

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 12.—Forest fires are raging on both sides of Marshall Pass and Sargents is in danger, according to reports brought today from the western slope of the Rocky Mountains by hunting parties. Meadows and forests on both sides of Sargents are burning fiercely. Every available man has been pressed into service.

THE LAJOIE INCIDENT.

Umpire at St. Louis Games Files His Report.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Umpire Evans, of the American League, today submitted report to President Ban B. Johnson, regarding the LaJoie incident at St. Louis last Sunday. President Johnson did not make public the entire report, but announced that Umpire Evans had given LaJoie an absolutely clean bill in relation to LaJoie's performance in making eight hits in eight times at bat in a double-header with the St. Louis team last Sunday.

Evans, who officiated in the games in question, filed his report at the request of President Johnson. The report will be made public when President Johnson has completed his personal investigation and is ready to announce his decision.

President Johnson is said to have offered as the best solution of the dispute, the returning of the automobile prize to the donors of the award. That, in the league president's opinion, would bury the unpleasantness; but in order to reward the players, he would have LaJoie and Cobb's averages declared a tie and have the league present suitable prizes to both.

CUSTOMS BARRIERS BROKEN.

Gifts to Fire Sufferers From Canada Admitted Free.

Washington, October 12.—Customs barriers between the United States and Canada were broken down today in favor of donations by Canadians for the forest fire sufferers in the Northwest. Collector of Customs Johnson, at St. Paul, Minn., was advised by telegraph that Canadian donations of emergency food and clothing supplies for the fire sufferers may be admitted free as an act of international courtesy.

This action follows advices from Collector Johnson, who has charge of the customs district that embraces the fire devasted area, reporting that Baudette and the territory for miles around had been burned; that several hundred persons perished in the fire and that several thousand were left homeless and destitute. Canada, the collector reported, is donating supplies and contributions of all kind.

work begin again, was the answer. Out of their war-stricken poverty her sons gave for her restoration, and out of a looted treasury the people of the State contributed to her support, and the mother of the century past took up her work again that she might become the mother of the centuries yet to be.

And so, in 1875, with some half dozen strong, unselfish teachers, and little more than half a hundred students the University began to rebuild its fortunes and to occupy again its sphere of service. Its equipment was very limited, and those were days of poverty and most rigid economy. We rejoice that he who wisely, skillfully and lovingly directed the progress of the struggling institution is still with us in hale and hearty old age. I know of no one else who could have borne the burdens and safely weathered the difficulties of those trying days.

There were at least three reasons why the progress of rebuilding was slow. In the first place, there was unwise opposition on the part of some who felt this to be demanded of them by loyalty to other institutions. This rose from a mistaken idea of competition and conflict of interests. It has taken many years for the truth to come out clearly that this is not competition in the unworthy sense, but rather an emulation in service which should be only noble and generous. As President Alderman once said, these institutions are like lighthouses sending out streams of light into the darkness of the night. In the work of saving and the fight against the darkness of inorance there is no room for unkind rivalry but only for thankfulness that others are engaged in the glorious work. And another fact has become clearer with the years.

The Church institutions have not failed or suffered because of the reopening of the University and its growth. On the contrary, they have prosepered with the prosperity of the University and as it grew and its influence strengthened, they too have grown until their halls are overflowing with those who seek in them their training. Personally I rejoice in their prosperity, and would bid them God-speed in their work. The University welcomes their aid in this great work—a work so great that, as President Alderman has said, the very angels might envy men such service.

A second obstacle to the growth of the University interferring with its proper support by the State, was the slowness on the part of the people to appreciate the value of education, and to realize that it was well worth paying for. The people were so poor that the type of statesman found most favor with them who summed out their highest state-craft in the opposition of all expenditure. Gradually they learned that they were too poor not to pay for an education, and a new generation of business men arose who understood that the success and prosperity of an individual depended upon the wise expenditure of money rather than the mere saving of it.

It was necessary too, that out of that little band who gathered here at the re-opening, such men as Alderman, McIver, Aycock and Joyner, should come forth furnished for the service of the people that they might recognize the incomparable returns which could come from the insignificant expenditure in dollars and cents which their training had cost the State. The service of one such man, if it could be measured in terms of money, far outweighs all that the University may have cost the State. And instead of one, there are dozens, aye hundreds, of strong men who have been trained here for her service.

The third reason for meagre support was that the State was very poor and had little to give from her empty treasury. Those were hard and trying days but they made for manly grit and strength and the simple virtues. The untiring industry and devotion of the president, the self-sacrificing labors of the faculty, the loyalty of the students, were beyond all praise.

The first Constitution of the State declared that "all useful learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more Universities.' More than a century later, the people of the State, descendants to the third and fourth generation of the brave men who had won our freedom and framed this constitution, were facing the problem as to how this provision was to be carried out. The century had brought changed conditions and larger ideals. Scientific and practicaltraining in agriculture and the technical trades and arts, were demanded if we were to compete on equal terms with our neighbors and the higher education of women was their simple right which men had long denied them. Was there to be one University or more?

The one already established was struggling with poverty. Considerations of economy might have led to a strengthening of this one, combining and centrating all educational effort at one centre, thus avoiding duplication and possible waste. There would have been abundant precedent for such action in the useful and growing institutions established in other States. Still the question was an open one. In some States the combination had not proved a success, and the University aided by the Land Scrip Fund, on it's re-opening had struggled in vain with the problem of developing the side of Agricultural Science.

Whatever were the considerations, the State decided to develop independently these three branches of education, one at Raleigh, and one at Greensboro, in addition to the one already established at Chapel Hill. I am convinced that it was a wise and far-sighted policy. I do not for a moment believe that the development which has been attained under separate management could possibly have been reached in concentration at Chapel Hill. The State has contributed generously out of its limited means, and three men instead of one have given every thought and energy to this building up. The duplication if any has meant light loss compared with the great gain in strength and purpose and power.

These three, the Normal College for Women at Greensboro, the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Raleigh, and the University at Chapel Hill, constitute the State's Greater University, and the wise constitutional provision of the forefathers has been fulfilled. It is important that the people of the State and the institutions themselves, should realize their oneness of purpose and destiny, their essential unity in everything except name and immediate control. They have been established that they might provide instruction in all useful learning for all the people. And back of these institutions is an extensive and costly system of primary and secondary schools.

Now, this is a large contract to the State to undertake, and involves a heavy financial burden. Let us look at it for a moment and see whether it is necessary for the State to do this. Every good business man would submit the proposition to a good rigid questioning, and unless the State's affairs are conducted on business principles, all state-craft is in vain.

Our Government is of the people, by the people, and for the people. Can those who believe in Democracy, and hope for its success, face calmly the possibility of an ignorant people with untrained leaders?

What would save them from the quack, the charlatan, the demagogue? How long would they remain a free people in the presence of designing and ambitious men? And can it be denied that while ignorance itself is not a vice, it is at the root of much of it? Our people's government can rise no higher than the people who compose it, and our liberty is absolutely dependent upon the enlightenment of the governed. If this is doubted, consider the relative possibilities of a Republic in Wisconsin and Liberia.

Then too, in the sharp competition of the present, destined to be still more rigorous in the future, what hope would there be for North Carolina to keep up in the race with an untrained citizenship? Will any State deliberately choose to be the lowest rung on the ladder, a hewer of wood and drawer of water for the others, laboriously furnishing the raw materials for the more skillful fingers and more ingenious brain to fashion into useful forms? It surely is not necessary to delay further over these arguments, made familiar in every corner of the State by the recent campaign of education. We are all agreed that the people, all the people, must be educated and trained to the fulfilment of the promise of all of their God-given powers.

Granted the need then, can the State with any propriety, justice or hope, look to anyone else to do this work of educating her people? Remember that the system is one complete whole, each part essential, and all suffering in the injury to any part. First, there are primary schools for all the children; then secondary schools for the more gifted or the more fortunate, and then a further elimination and revival of the fittest, a small chosen band is left, about one and two hundred and fifty of the original number, to enter the tri-partite University. The Greater University will have no material to train unless the schools furnish it, and the schools can have no competent teachers, nor wise supervision and guidance, nor inspiration and hope, without the University. And who can say how greatly the coming of fit schools for all the people would have been delayed had not the University trained, inspired, and sent forth such men as Murphey, Wiley, Alderman, McIver and Joyner?

Can the Churches undertake this great task and burden if the State declines the responsibility? To anyone who understands the situation, this means of course, white churches, and a careful statistician stated the other day that the white churches included in their membership less than fifty per cent. of the adult white population of the State. If the churches abandoned all evangelistic and similar work which they are nobly trying to carry on in fulfilment of their great mission, they would still be unable to do this work of education as it should be done, and it is not just nor fair to lay the burden upon them. But there is still a graver question than the financial one. While church support might seek to install more or religious forms in education, there are many divisions in the church, and it would much more surely introduce an era of dogma teaching with just such bitter animosity and hopeless brenches as were aroused in the Dutch Republic. Then too, what is to become of the fifty odd per cent. of the population which are neither members nor adherents of any churches?

Practically, the only part of the field which the churches attempt to cover today is that of collegiate education, many of the secondary or high schools which they had built having been turned over to the State for lack of funds to support them. There are in the church colleges today about one half of the youth of the State who are seeking a real college education, and yet some of the denominations are taxing themselves to the utmost to do even this part of the work, as witness the strenuous efforts on the part of several of them to increase endowments which are avowedly much below their needs. I repeat that this is a good work, and the State welcomes the assistance. How far it is the wisest expenditure of their means is a question for the denominations themselves to decide.

If the State declines to educate her people and the churches cannot, there remains but one other agency. The great task must be undertaken by some great philanthropist or group of philanthropists. Let us ask ourselves candidly, from what source such aid would come to North Carolina. Who will pour out the necessary millions, and if these millions are forthcoming, who will control and direct the education given? Dare we place ourselves under such obligation, and take any chances as to the subtle poison which may be instilled into the minds of our children under the guise of education? While I gladly welcome all generous aid to us in our work at the University, I would protest against the acceptance of any gift which would even partially divorce this institution from the support and control and the love of the people of North Carolina who have founded it for their children and their children's children.

Two things would seem to be clear then: The work of education is necessary, and this work must be undertaken by the State. As the success of the government, the progress of the people and the future of our children, depend upon its being well and thoroughly done, it is folly to talk of any half-way measures. At all costs, the State must bend every energy to the carrying on of this work. Nothing can take precedence of it, nothing can be so important.

We are proud of the fact that a substantial school house has been built for every day of the past five years—that nearly two hundred thousand good books have been placed in the school libraries, in every part of the State, that the school term has been greatly lengthened, that high schools have been established in every county and are crowded by some 7,000 pupils, where a few years ago they numbered only a few hundred; that capable teachers are being secured and are better paid, and that the school fund has more than doubled in ten years.

Superintendent Joyner, in his report to the last Legislature, gives the total available school fund for 1906-1907 as $2,863,217.79, and for 1907-1908 as $3,294,230.70. In the same years the expenditures for teaching and supervision were respectively $1,691,942.22 and $1,845,357.98; for buildings and supplies the amounts were $582,064.41 and $804,587.78. The value of all school property in 1907-1908 was $4,917,312.00. These figures refer to the primary and high schools, and do not include the colleges.

What is the inspiration which can lead to such a generous outpouring of the people's money? What has convinced the people that they must have this thing called Education, whatever it costs? One or two ideas must be clearly grasped before we can satisfactorily settle this question. First, education must be from above downwards. The logical relation is teachers first and then the taught. Our forefathers were right in establishing the University first. There could be no common school system without it, for it was necessary that educated men should be scattered among the people to create a sentiment in behalf of education; that these leaders in every community should show by their successful career the practical value of an education, and that some of them should serve as teachers to impart to others the education which had been given them.

The light must filter from above downwards until no dark spot is left untouched. Some 1,500 or nearly 1-6 of all the teachers in the schools of North Carolina are college graduates, and one-half of these are teaching in the rural schools. It is reasonable to suppose that a much larger number have had one or more years of college training.

Again, is it not true that these children are crowding into the lower schools because of the promise held out to them that they can go on from grade to grade and school to school, even through the big public school, which forms the keystone of the arch, drinking in all useful learning, and fitting themselves for the very highest service? Many will fail in this but the inspiration is for all. Let us picture to ourselves the deadening effect if the promise failed with the high school and hope ended there.

The inspiration, the success, then lie in the complete, rounded out system, and chiefly in the head of the system where the purposes and hopes are centered. Is it strange then, that I am pleading that this all important head be made strong and worthy, able in every way to do its work? If the statements which we who are in charge of the divisions of the Greater University give as to their condition and needs cannot be relied upon then let others take up the work who are wiser, only do not permit the most vital interests of a great State to suffer through neglect.

What is the condition of higher or collegiate education? The three component parts of the Greater University have been established and provided with moderate equipment. The money has, I believe, been wisely expended, and every dollar made to bring in its utmost return. The amount however, has been much less than was deemed necessary in a majority of the other States, certainly in such as we would care to pattern after. I do not wish to stress too much the example of others, though we cannot safely ignore this. The more important question is whether these institutions have been equipped sufficiently for them to do their work properly and efficiently, and meet the demands made upon them. To neglect to do this is a positive injury to every child in the State, and a crucial mistake from a business standpoint. It is the testimony of those in charge of them that these institutions have been insufficiently equipped, and estimates of the cost of the additional equipment needed have been submitted. They are simply overtaxed by the demands made upon them. Speaking for the Institution intrusted to my care, I may say that the dormitory accommodations are sufficient for only a little more than one-third of the present number of students, and most of these dormitories are in wretched repair. The recitation rooms are quite inadequate, and their limited number forbid the proper sub-division of the classes for the best work. New laboratories are urgently needed in several departments, and increased pay to hold the teachers already employed.

The University is suffering from its very success. Its halls are over crowded, and the successful working of the State system of high schools means still further crowding in or those who would profit from the advantages it offers. Therfore, it has reached again a critical period in its history and the question arises as it did at its re-opening. What are the people of the State going to do to make it possible for the work to go on? Can they afford to allow it to fail for lack of adequate support?

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

It is but just to the Legislatures of several sessions past to say that they have recognized the needs of these institutions and have done what was possible to meet them, considering the many demands for carrying on other work of the State, and the limitations of the State's treasury. The problem which is facing every one now is whether this work shall be limited, other calls denied, or further means provided in some way.

In order that the financial stress of the University may be realized, and the difficulties which it has to meet in carrying on its work, I have secured for comparison, figures from one of the best known universities of the South, with which it might well be expected to compete in the character of service rendered.

	Income	Equipment
University of Va..	$209,623	$2,577,000
University of N. C.	146,161	798,000

These figures are taken from the Government Report for 1908-1909.

In the eighty-five years of its existence the University of Virginia has received from the State a total of $1,894,667. In one hundred and fifteen years the University of North Carolina has received from the State for equipment and support $892,000, only $160,0000 of which has been given for buildings, and no appropriation for a building was made before 1905.

The populaiton of Virginia in 1900 was 1,854,184 and the assessed valuation of property in 1908 was $541,456,220. The population of North Carolina in 1900 was 1,893,810 and the assessed valuation of property in 1909 was $576,115,170.

In the statement of income of the University of Virginia no account is taken of the completion of its million dollars of endowmnet nor of the increased appropriation made by the State. This would make its income about 60 per cent. greater than that of the University of North Carolina. I do not think that the figures require further comment.

I may add that the income of the University of Texas last year was $543,977.22 of 360 per cent. greater than that of the University of North Carolina.

I believe, however, that the citizens of North Carolina require no such incentive to do their plain and manifest duty to their children, and that the ywill grant to those who have their education in charge the means necessary for this all important work.

WORLD'S SERIES NEXT WEEK.

Commission Returned $70,000 to Applicants For Seats.—Player Hurt.

Philadelphia, October 12.—It is estimated by representatives of the National Commission, having charge of the distribution of seats for the first two baseball games in the world's series, here next week, that $70,000 has been returned to applicants for tickets whose orders cannot be filled. The demand for tickets has broken all records and the amount of money returned is the largest ever turned back by a club figuring in the world's series.

Although it was officially announced last Friday that no applications would be considered that were mailed later than last Saturday, many people today tried every possible way they knew how to buy reserved seats at advanced prices. The National Commission has taken extraordinary precautions to keep the tickets out of the hands of scalpers.

Centerfield Oldring, of the Philadelphia Americans, may not be able to play in the world's series, due to having the ligaments in his knee injured in yesterday's game. In going after a fly-ball Oldring lost it in the sun. To prevent being hit he turned suddenly and wrenched the ligaments. His knee was badly swollen today and specialtists, who were called in, declared that they could not tell until tomorrow whether or not the injury would prevent the outfielder from playing next week.

Forced to Leave Home.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calamine, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. Its surely the King of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. Its positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, Lagrippe, Asthma, Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Robert R. Bellamys'

fenn. Dr. Winchester offered a resolution declaring that "the house places itself on record as declaring that the Holy Scriptures are beyond doubt accepted by the church as the word of Almighty God."

"It is time," said Dr. Winchester, "to protest against the charge that we do not believe that the Bible is the word of God, a charge that is being thrown at us from all parts of the country. I beg this House to send out the word and banish all doubts on this point. If this is not true, there is no place in this church for me."

The Rev. James Houston Eccleston, of Baltimore, proposed as a sub-resolution that the secretary of the convention shall publish in all the daily papers of Cincinnati the Eighth Article of the constitution of the church.

William R. Butler, of Mauch Chunk, Pa., a lay deputy, made a vain attempt to have the whole matter laid on the table.

Amid cries of "question!" the sub resolution was adopted by an unanimous vote.

When asked afterward how he voted, the Rev. Dr. Morrison, whose declaration that the Bible is not the Word of God, started the discussion, said: "I do not care to answer that question at this time."

Pensions for aged clergymen were urged in a report made by Rev. Dr. J. J. Wilkins, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, Los Angeles, and general secretary of the $5,000,000 clergy relief fund. He read figures showing that the average salary of Episcopalian clergymen in cities of 25,000 and over, is $1,200 a year.

Of the work done in raising money during the two years of his service, Dr. Wilkins said the average had been $250 a day, nothing to be ashamed of, but woefully inadequate for the purpose. He cited the fact that thirty millionaires of New York had endowed a theatre, and asked if there were not in the whole church in the United States 100 members who would give $10,000,000 as a fund for the pensioning of the aged and worn-out ministers of the church.

"Let it be done," he said, "that we may no longer have the spectacle of these men finishing out their lives as peripatetic sellers of books or solicitors of life insurance."

RATE CASE BEING ARGUED.

Missouri Right Comes Up Before the United States Supreme Court.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Stubbornly contesting every point, attorneys for the State of Missouri and the railroads therein today began argument before the Supreme Court of the United States as to the validity of the two-cent passenger rate and maximum freight rate laws of that State passed in 1907. So important did the court consider that case that it extended the time for argument so as to include practically all of the court's time tomorrow.

It is claimed by counsel in the case that the issues in controversy will affect State legislation regulating railroads in nearly every State of the Union. The case includes questions of jurisdiction of Federal courts over State legislation in regard to railroads, and the proper basis of arriving at the remuneration guaranteed the railroads under the Federal constitution. The Circuit Court for the Western District of Missouri held the laws were unremunerative and enjoined their enforcement.

The arguments were opened by Frank Hagerman for the Chicago, Burlington & Quinsy Railroad Company. He attempted to convince the justices that the court below had used the proper basis in arriving at the remuneration allowed the railroads under the laws in question. He maintained that the valuation of the property devoted to State business as distinguished from interstate business was in the same ratio that earning from the carriage of State freight and State passengers bore to the earnings from interstate business in the State. He argued that it costs more to carry on State than interstate business.

Shortly before court adjourned, Sanford B. Ladd addressed the court in defense of the laws. He attacked the jurisdiction on the questions in issue.

BILLS OF LADING MATTER.

American Bankers Sends Cablegram that Form has Been Agreed Upon.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 12.—A private cablegram was received today from Liverpool by A. P. Coles, cashier of the Central Trust Corporation, and one of the committee of five Southern bankers named to conduct negotiations with English bankers, stating that a form of cotton bills of lading guarantee finally had been agreed upon to be effective when the old form expires, October 31st. Copies of these forms, it was said, have been mailed to the United States and the new phrasing and conditions also have been given to the press.

MORE BODIES RECOVERED.

Large Number of Miners Still Missing.—Electrician Killed.

Starkville, Colo., Oct. 12.—Of the more than 50 men entombed in the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company's mine last Saturday, only 22 bodies had been found up to tonight. Of these eight are still in the mine. Today five bodies were taken to Trinidad for burial. As the procession was leaving the camp, Fred Foster, an electrician of Walsenburg, who had been assisting in rescue work, was struck by a Santa Fe train and killed.

NEGRO EDUCATION.

National Religious Training School for Negroes at Durham, N. C.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Durham, N. C., Oct. 12.—The greatest meeting in the interest of education for negroes was held in this city last night. This was an auspicious opening of the first regular school term of the National Religious Training School for Negroes located in this city. Never before in the history of the city has there been evidenced such enthusiasm for the kind of education that this institution is giving the negro ministry and religious workers who are largely responsible for the negro's moral, spiritual and intellectual development.

Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, chairman of the advisory board of the school, presided over the meeting. In introducing him Dr. Jas. E. Shepard, founder and president of the school in part said: "The true and tried friend of the black man who is trying to rise, is Judge Jeter C. Pritchard." In making a short address the judge especially emphasized the need of such an institution for the development of the negro, and said: "This institution is one of the most important ever organized for the uplift of the colored race."

Dr. J. C. Massey, a prominent divine from Nashville, Tenn., in delivering one of his able discourses said: "No man in this generation has done greater harm than Andrew Carnegie. Religious institutions have changed their charters in order to meet his whims." The by-products of Christianity was his theme and he made some pertinent utterances about politicians imbued with a corrupt spirit and said "Corrupt politicians of Tennessee have buried out of sight by 50,000 clean voters in a recent election."

Mrs. E. E. Horne, of Connecticut addressed the audience. She said she was completely animated by the occasion, this being the first time she was ever South. Her address was full of optimism and vital statistics relative to the negro's progress.

Mr. Brodie Duke, of Durham, who donate $3,000 to the institution, was introduced and given an ovation by his colored fellow citizens.

GEN. GROSVENOR SPOKE.

Tells of Cause for War of 60's—Talks of Civil War.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 12.—"An indissoluble Union of indissoluble States was the omission from the constitution of the United States, which caused the war of the 60's, was the declaration of General Charles H. Grosvenor tonight in his address before the society of the army of the Cumberland and survivors of Wilder's brigade. The general's version of the cause of the Civil war followed an appeal to quit waving the bloody shirt."

He urged his hearers and all students of the Civil war history not to stop at the surrender at Appomattox, but "follow up the deeds and the achievements of the Southern man, as he builded up a nation from desolation and ruin."

Continuing his remarks concerning the cause of the Civil war, he said: "Washington, politician that he was, realized what he was doing when he wrote to the Governor of Massachusetts just before the State adopted the consitution and said that Patrick Henry was going up and down the State of Virginia preaching against the adoption of the constitution that if Massachusetts did not adopt it before Virignia, it was lost. Massachusetts adopted it. Washington was a great politician.

"You, Confederate soldiers, did not believe that you were compelled to stay in the Union. Lee, Jackson, Calhoun and other great men of the South stood upon that question. They did what they believed to be right. They saw the constitution as it was adopted without the clause 'an indissoluble Union of indissoluble States.' Who is here to call them criminals? Certainly not I."

All Confederate vetrans in the city were urged to be present at the camp fire of the G. A. R. to be held tomorrow night.

BANDITS SHOOT UP TOWN.

Dynamited State Bank and Escaped After a Running Fight.

Proctor, Colo., Oct. 12.—Four masked men heavily armed rode into Proctor today, shot up the town, dynamited the State bank and escaped after a running fight with citizens. They got no money.

Sheriff Brush and deputies are hunting them. First intimation of bandit's presence was given by an explosion of dynamite that wrecked the outer door of the safe in the bank. For an hour thereafter every man who ventured into Main street was shot at by one or two bandits, who stood on a corner. The other two worked steadily trying to drill the inner door of the safe, but finally gave it up. The four mounted and rode toward Sterling, shooting up the town as they left.

COLORADO FOREST FIRES.

Flames Spread Over Mountains.—Men Sent From Denver.

Carter's Lake, Colo., October 12.—Forest fires, which swept Big Thief mountain yesterday, today jumped to Sheep mountain and tonight that peak is a gigantic torch. Efforts to control the fire by 50 men, sent from Denver yesterday, proved unavailing, the fire jumping the cleared space made by back firing and setting the work of the fighters at naught. The fire area is about ten miles long and five miles wide. No loss of life is reported.

REFUSED HUSTON NEW TRIAL.

Charged With Conspiracy to Defraud Commonwealth.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 12.—Joseph M. Huston, architect of the State capitol and of the interior furnishings and fittings, was refused a new trial on the charge of conspiracy to cheat and defraud the commonwealth by certifying to a false bill by President Judge Kunkel, of the Dauphin county court, in a lengthy opinion filed today.

Huston was convicted in April, after a trial lasting almost six weeks, being found guilty of the charge of conspiracy with four persons previously convicted, but from whose case his had been severed.

The judge refuses to grant a re-trial of the case on the ground that the defendant had enjoyed a fair and impartial trial and directs that he appear for sentence on Saturday, October 15, at 10 o'clock in the morning.
